Ike Says: Free Japan A Must Pacific Could Become A 'Communist Lake' If Reds Get Asia

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower declared it is "absolutely mandatory" to this nation's security that Japan be spared from falling under the domination of the Communism spreading over Asia.

In an address before the National Editorial Assn., Eisenhower indicated that the preservation of a free Japan is the keystone of American policy in Southeast Asia and the Pacific. If the Kremlin and the rulers of Red China are able to control the vast resources of Asia and give Japan the task of providing naval strength, the President said, the Pacific could become "a Communist lake."

Speaking with utmost seriousness to the convention of editors of 5,200 weekly newspapers, the President declared Japan to be the "key to the defense" of the Western Pacific.

"So it becomes absolutely mandatory for us that Japan does not fall under the domination of the Soviets or into the hands of the Kremlin," the President said.

Weigh All Facts
Eisenhower appealed to the editors to weigh all facts carefully in presenting the crucial issues of foreign affairs to the public.

Such assertions, he said, were: 1. That the United States cannot carry all the nations of the free world on its shoulders and should stop "international give-away programs." It is very true, the President said, that we cannot by our own efforts make any nation free.

2. That this country should not allow our allies to trade with the Reds. Said Eisenhower: "It is of course true that while nations are trying to destroy us, we should not supply them with guns and ammunition with which to destroy us."

3. We should not get involved in Southeast Asia. It is true, commented the President, that America cannot be strong enough to defend the whole world. In the threatened places to remain free, he said, those countries will in some way fall under the control of authority other than their own.

4. Wages and labor standards are so low in some foreign countries that to buy their goods hurts domestic industry. It is true, the President went on, that this country cannot open the floodgates to the output of low-wage nations.

5. While no one of the four propositions alone would solve the problems of Japan, he said, all four of them would hurt the United States. The question that must be resolved, Eisenhower said, is how to put these facts together to solve the problems of the free world in the interest of peace, security and economic well-being.

EVERYONE CAN GET ONE

Dr. Clyde Wilcox of Ansley gives a gamma globulin shot to 6-year-old David Ostrander Tuesday. It is part of a mass inoculation in which for the first time GG shots are being offered to everyone in an entire community. Mrs. Ada Waterbury, the doctor's assistant, is at right. (AP Wirephoto.)

Fresh Equipment Arrival Aids Ansley Polio Fight ... Dr. Wilcox Inoculates Community

ANSLEY, Neb. (AP)—Arrival of a fresh supply of hypodermic needles and syringes Tuesday gave Dr. Clyde Wilcox a big boost in his job of inoculating this community of 711 persons against polio.

Children were first and 150 of them had received inoculations up to Tuesday afternoon. The work continued through the day with plans to complete the job by the week-end.

With 600 needles and 300 syringes flown here by the foundation, Dr. Wilcox said he can give the gamma globulin shots to Ansley residents "as fast as they come in the door."

Although he has had an ample supply of the polio preventative for several days the inoculations have been slowed up because he was forced to depend on his own 16 syringes and time consuming sterilization reduced the number of patients he could inoculate in a day.

One Adult
So far only one adult has asked for the gamma globulin inoculation. Dr. Wilcox attributed this to the fact that when the inoculations were started last week, there was no assurance of enough for all and "the parents seemed to want to see the kids get the shots" first. The program was opened to everyone Monday after a Sunday announcement from the pulpits of Ansley's churches.

The 53-year-old country doctor, who drives the 15 miles from his home in Broken Bow to Ansley each day, is handling the mass inoculations with the help of one office assistant. But he said he is going to have to have another office girl to keep the records from now on, while he and his regular assistant, Mrs. Ada Waterbury, handle the inoculations.

Dr. Wilcox came to Custer County in 1934, two years after the five-day forecast calls for an average of about one-fourth of an inch of rain in Eastern Nebraska to less than one-tenth of an inch elsewhere. Precipitation will occur as scattered thundershowers mostly Thursday and Friday.

Lack of rainfall Monday and Tuesday brought the flooding Omaha Creek back into its banks at Walthill and Winnebago. Logan Creek, although not flooding at Lyons, covered farm land both above and below Lyons Tuesday.

The committee, Jeary said, was also agreed upon the hiring of the Associated Auditorium. Architects to prepare plans and specifications. This is the same group of architects in the city that have worked on the auditorium in the past.

The architects' fees, Jeary said, will be 6 per cent on the first $1 million cost of the building and 5 per cent on the remainder of the total cost.

The cost of seats, stage equipment and other such equipment will not be included in the figure for computing the architects' fees, Jeary said. Plans and specifications for those items will also be prepared by another person, to be hired by the city to oversee the general construction work.

The auditorium will be built at 15th and N in accordance with a recent order of the Nebraska Supreme Court.

Water Nears— 178,000 Prepare For Flood

Des Moines Braced
For Record Crest

DES MOINES (AP)—This city of 178,000 was in an official state of emergency Tuesday night as residents responded to a call to prepare themselves for their greatest flood.

Gov. William S. Beardsley, meantime, called on President Eisenhower to designate 19 flood-stricken Iowa counties as disaster areas so they may qualify for federal aid.

The Des Moines crisis mounted steadily.

The flood is due to go three feet higher than any previously known with a crest of 29 to 30 feet by Thursday morning. It is rolling slowly down the Des Moines River basin from Boone, 60 miles upstream.

In 1947 two persons drowned in Des Moines, 7,000 acres in the city were flooded and 1,090 were homeless.

The Des Moines River flows directly through the center of the city. It runs through a secondary residential area and past the business commercial and railroad district. The main business district is out of reach of flooding.

Large-scale sandbagging of levees was under way. Disaster evacuation centers were being prepared.

The direct peril to Des Moines was the latest major development in a solid week of continuing flood crises throughout northwest and north central Iowa. It came as Iowa had its first generally fair day following two weeks of torrential rains throughout northern Iowa.

In northwestern Iowa the situation eased as Sioux City rode out a second major crest on the rampaging Floyd River. The levees protecting the East Sioux City area in which 14 lives were lost a year ago held firm this time. Mayor George Young lifted a four-day-old state emergency under which 500 families were evacuated as a precautionary move.

At Mason City, in northern Iowa, 300 families flooded out by a flash flood on Willow Creek began cleaning up their homes. But at Fort Dodge, where the Des Moines River was falling slowly after inundating a 25-block residential area, some 250 families awaited a further fall before they could return.

Power Plant Surrounded By Water

—'War' Spreads In Central America— HONDURAN TOWN IS BOMBED BY PLANES

Anti-Communist Forces Claim Gains
Against Guatemalan Troops Of Arbenz

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—The Honduran government said Tuesday night this country has been bombed by unidentified planes near the border of rebel-invaded Guatemala.

The Foreign Ministry announced the bombing of the town of Santa Rosa De Copan, an important road junction about 21 miles from the Guatemalan frontier.

Santa Rosa De Copan has not previously figured in the invasion of Guatemala by anti-Communist "liberation" forces. The Foreign Ministry gave no other details and it was not known whether there were any casualties.

The reported bombing came as Guatemala City also reported an aerial attack by a rebel plane. The report from the Guatemalan capital said the plane strafed the California Standard gasoline tanks there Tuesday morning and later shot up a military encampment at the edge of the city.

Retaliation Seen
The reported attack on the Honduran town immediately raised speculation here that Guatemala may be retaliating against this country in view of the fact the exile insurgent forces of the Guatemala rebel chieftain, Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, launched their invasion from Honduras.

Castillo Armas moved the headquarters of his rebel regime from Honduras Tuesday to the town of Esquipulas, about six miles inside the Guatemalan border. Rebel field headquarters were reported earlier to have been set up deeper inside the country at the village of Camotan, about 20 miles from the Honduran border.

The insurgent leader said at Esquipulas his anti-Communist forces are "not fighting the Guatemalan Army or the Guatemalan people, only the Communist government" of left-wing President Jacobo Arben Guzman.

A C-47 plane dropped supplies to the insurgents at Esquipulas Airport. Castillo Armas said he was setting up a provisional government there Wednesday and would announce the makeup of his cabinet then.

Claim Other Towns
A rebel communique issued here earlier Tuesday night said mala's main port city, Puerto Barrios, still had not placed it in rebel hands and communications between it and the capital, Guatemala City, had not been cut off as yet.

Spokesmen for the Arbenz regime declared their forces are beating back the invaders in all areas—a claim the rebels disputed.

Britons Arrive Friday
NEW YORK (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden will arrive in Washington at 9 a. m. EDT Friday to begin talks with President Eisenhower, an official of the British Overseas Airways Corp. announced.

Referendum By Farmers Voted ... By House Agriculture Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Agriculture Committee voted Tuesday to let corn belt farmers choose between rigid and flexible price supports on their 1956 corn crop.

Experts said that one probable effect of the provision, as written into the nearly-completed farm bill, would be another year of rigid high price supports on corn, with continued acreage controls.

The vote comes at a time when the Eisenhower administration is plugging for legislation providing for a gradual shift from the present rigid 90 per cent of parity price supports on major crops to a more flexible system. There is considerable opposition to this in Congress.

Backed By Corn Staters
The proposal approved Tuesday was offered by Rep. Hoveen (R-Ia.) and backed by corn state members. Under it, the secretary of agriculture would be required in December, 1955, to conduct a referendum among corn farmers on a 1956 program providing either:

1. Price supports on corn at 90 per cent of parity with whatever acreage allotments were considered necessary, or

2. No acreage controls, but with the secretary of agriculture empowered to set government price supports at a level between 75 and 90 per cent of parity.

The present law's provision permitting the use of marketing quotas, which are considerably tougher as a control measure than are acreage allotments, would be repealed.

Limited To 1956
The proposal approved Tuesday does not extend beyond the 1956 crop. New legislation would have to be enacted for later years.

The corn carryover this year is estimated at about 900 million bushels, about a three-month supply.

Congressional aids said that with the exception of rice, corn is probably the only one of the six basic commodities susceptible to a referendum of this nature without the prospect of greatly enlarged surpluses if acreage controls were lifted. One reason is that corn acreage is fairly stable.

It was explained, however, that accepting allotments, corn farmers would extend present rigid high supports on their crop for an additional year.

In other farm developments Tuesday, a billion-dollar fund for the Agriculture Department was approved by Senate-House conferees, while farmers warned their profits will shrink next year because of more rigid production controls announced Monday.

The conferees, compromising differences between Senate and House bills, voted for cash and loan authority about 100 million dollars above the 974 millions President Eisenhower had asked to carry on the department's various functions during the year starting July 1. Both houses still must approve the action.

At State College, Pa., Secretary Benson told the American Dairy Science Assn. that price supports would not solve the dairy surplus problem. The trouble, he said, is "under-consumption" because the American people are not drinking nearly as much milk as they used to.

Defended A-Bomb
He formulated a World War II program of research and development of radar—the microwave device for detection of enemy craft at sea and in the air. Today, it is the nation's chief defense against atomic warfare.

Dr. Compton was also closely associated with development of the A-bomb and he defended its use against Japan during the closing stages of the war.

Dr. Compton insisted the A-bomb's use against Japan saved at least 50,000 American lives that otherwise might have been lost in an invasion.

He leaves his widow, the former Margaret Hutchinson, and three children, Mrs. Carroll M. Boyce of Scarsdale, N. Y.; Mrs. Bissell Alderman of Holyoke, Mass.; and Charles, an instructor at Mount Hermon school, Northfield, Mass.

Omaha Boy Dies Of Bullet Wound

OMAHA (AP)—Allan Paul Kerr Jr., 14, of Omaha, was found shot to death in his home late Tuesday.

He was found by his father, Allan Sr., kneeling against a sofa in the front room. The elder Kerr had just come home from work. The boy's mother has been dead for a number of years.

A neighbor told police Allan had been playing with another boy early in the afternoon. Later the other boy was seen running from the Kerr home.

Allan had been shot in the lower abdomen. Two rifles were found on the floor in the room.

Policewoman Grace McMichaels (right) leads Mrs. Clarkson from the office, while Police Chief Joe Carroll follows. At the right is the wooden cane, which belonged to Mr. Clarkson and, according to the county attorney, was used in the fatal beating. DeYonghe Transfer Time Is 'Soon'

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Time of transfer of Joseph E. DeYonghe, accused inmate slayer of a prison guard, appeared uncertain Tuesday following a mental hearing, except that it would be "as soon as practical."

Chairman C. L. Clark of the Lancaster County Medical Health Board which found DeYonghe to be "mentally ill," said a warrant for the immediate commitment of DeYonghe in a mental institution has been issued by the board.

However, he said that the instrument would not be served until Wednesday when the report of the board's doctor-member is submitted.

The order is given Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp, but as a practical matter arrangement will be made with Warden Herbert Hann and Dr. F. L. Spradling, Superintendent of the Lincoln State Hospital, for transfer of DeYonghe, said Clark.

Dr. Spradling will be the "key man" in the transfer, said Clark. "It will be up to him to say when facilities are available."

Dr. Spradling told The Star that DeYonghe would be placed "in the 40-bed maximum security ward at the hospital."

"The ward is full now, but we'll be able to make room for DeYonghe in a day or so," Spradling said.

An appeal from the county board's order can be made by DeYonghe to the District Court. Under the finding, the inmate can not be prosecuted on the murder charge until he is found "medically sane and able to defend himself in a court trial."

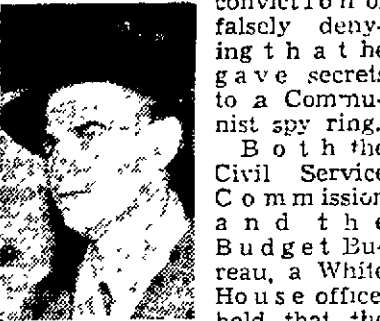

The story of the County Board of Health decision is on Page 6.

Pension
For Hiss
Is Backed

Right To $700
A Year Argued

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration took the position that Alger Hiss has a legal right to a $700-a-year government pension despite his conviction of falsely denying that he gave secrets to a Communist spy ring.

Both the Civil Service Commission and the Budget Bureau, a White House office, held that the government is obligated to go through with retirement pay to federal employees even though they are imprisoned for criminal acts. They opposed pending legislation to deny the pension to Hiss. Repercussion were prompt and critical.

Rep. Clardy (R-Mich.), author of one of several bills designed to make sure that the imprisoned ex-official gets no retirement benefits, said the administration attitude "leaves me aghast, enraged, boiling mad."

Rep. St. George (R-NY), author of another bill, called it "inconceivable to me that persons who have violated their trust—these convicted felons—should receive the same benefits as thousands of government employees who serve their country well."

Hiss, who'll be 50 years old next Nov. 11, rose to an influential post in the State Department in the 14 years and 9 months he worked for the government. That length of service would qualify him for a $700 pension starting Dec. 1, 1966.

On Jan. 15, 1950, after leaving the government, he was convicted of perjury in denying he ever slipped government secrets to Whittaker Chambers, a courier for a pre-war Russian spy ring. Sentenced to five years, he entered federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., March 28, 1951 and could get out on good behavior next November. He has been turned down twice on a parole.

The administration attitude was expressed in letters to a House Civil Service Subcommittee which is considering bills applying specifically to Hiss and generally to all federal workers convicted of felonies involving moral turpitude.

Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission, basing his argument of 30 years' operation of the retirement pay law, wrote:

"These bills would introduce an entirely new concept to the retirement law which in effect would be inserting a criminal penalty in a civil statute, thereby enlarging the penalty already prescribed by federal or state criminal laws."

News Around The Globe

Brilliant Victory

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP) — Outnumbered 2-to-1, a battalion of the young Vietnamese National Army has scored a brilliant victory over 2,000 Vietminh who stormed the town of Tuy Hoa on the central coast, the French high command announced.

In the bloody battle for the town of 3,000, the Vietnamese killed about 300 of the attackers and wounded many more. Thirty of the battalion's men were reported killed in the action, one of the most important Vietnamese victories in the Indo-China war.

Red Bar Asked

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson, Tex., asked congress in a resolution to reaffirm its determination that Russia shall not interfere in affairs of the Western Hemisphere.

Johnson declared in a Senate speech that the Communists in seeking to establish "a beachhead in the Americas now have passed the stage of infiltration and building small groups for espionage, sabotage, and subversion." He added bluntly: "They are now entering a semi-military phase of operations."

Curbs Necessary

WASHINGTON (INS) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's top aid said the entire U. S. economy will be hurt by the tight controls Benson ordered on 1955 farm production but insisted the curbs are necessary.

Undersecretary True D. Morse told the National Poultry Improvement Plan Conference the program to control surpluses "will tend to slow down the expansion of the total economy."

Equipment Taken

A power drill, accessories, and a hammer owned by George Walker of 1227 O. Apt. 1 were taken from a garage in the rear of 1221 O. Police valued the loss at $42.10.

'Disunity' Lighted

SALEM, Ill. (AP) — Stephen A. Mitchell, the Democratic national chairman, said the televised McCarthy-Army hearings have highlighted "inefficiency" and "disunity" in the Eisenhower administration.

"It turns out," Mitchell said, two young men "can throw this whole Eisenhower Republican administration into a turmoil."

Fresh Attack

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — A fresh attack on compulsory, doctor-hospital insurance proposals was made Tuesday night by Dr. Walter B. Martin of Norfolk, Va., following his inauguration as 1954-55 president of the American Medical Association.

The 108th chief executive of the world's biggest medical organization called upon the doctors of America to "speak plainly" to the people on political matters in the battle against what the AMA has branded as "socialized medicine plans."

Jenkins Assigned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The McCarthy-Army hearings committee assigned special counsel Ray H. Jenkins to summarize its testimony, and agreed to try to reach its own conclusions by Aug. 1.

Chairman Mundt (R-S.D.) said Jenkins' job is to list salient points of controversy for the committee's consideration—"to prepare the balance sheet without striking a balance."

Pond Dive Fatal For Stella Man

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP) — Harold E. Walker, 39, died Tuesday afternoon when he dove into a small pond on his acreage on the outskirts of Stella.

It is believed he broke his neck. The body was recovered by the man's father, Herbert Walker. Two grandchildren notified him of the accident when their uncle failed to come up after the dive.

Farm Labor Supply Good

Nebraska's farm labor supply, except for beet workers, remains "generally adequate," the State Employment Service reports.

Placements of farm laborers last week totalled 288, of which 111 were beet workers, 66 were single farm hands, and 35 were hay hands.

The wheat harvest is expected to begin June 28 in the southern tier of counties, the report noted, and wheat prospects on acreages left for harvest "continue to look good."

In Kansas, the report said, harvest operations are expanding rapidly and should reach full scale proportions by Monday in South Kansas to a line from Salina to Great Bend to Elkhart. Labor and equipment demands are increasing in Kansas but small surpluses at points south appear adequate for routing to all areas reporting shortages at the moment.

Additional machines and men needed for next week are expected to move into Kansas from the harvest fields of Texas and Oklahoma.

Governor Signs
Interstate Oil
Compact Okay

Gov. Robert Crosby Tuesday signed an agreement to extend the state's participation in the interstate oil compact until Sept. 1, 1959.

A bill adopted by the 1953 Nebraska Legislature authorized the Nebraska entry into the Interstate Oil Compact Commission which is composed of 22 member states, four associate states and Alaska.

The agreement signed Tuesday will be signed by the governors of the other compact states and then filed with the secretary of state of the United States.

Present to witness the signing was James D. Conway of Hastings, the governor's official representative to the commission.

The commission's next meeting will be held in Omaha beginning Sept. 8.

Ike To Review
Far East With Party Leaders

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower Tuesday cancelled his weekly news conference in order to devote a full morning Wednesday to a review of the Far Eastern situation.

The President will meet with legislative leaders of both parties at 8:30 a.m. EDT, and the meeting is expected to last through the morning.

The legislators will be briefed on the Geneva conference on Indo-China and Korea by Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith.

A news conference had been set for 10:30 a.m., but it was cancelled later "in order not to interfere" with the meeting.

Arms Plan Fails

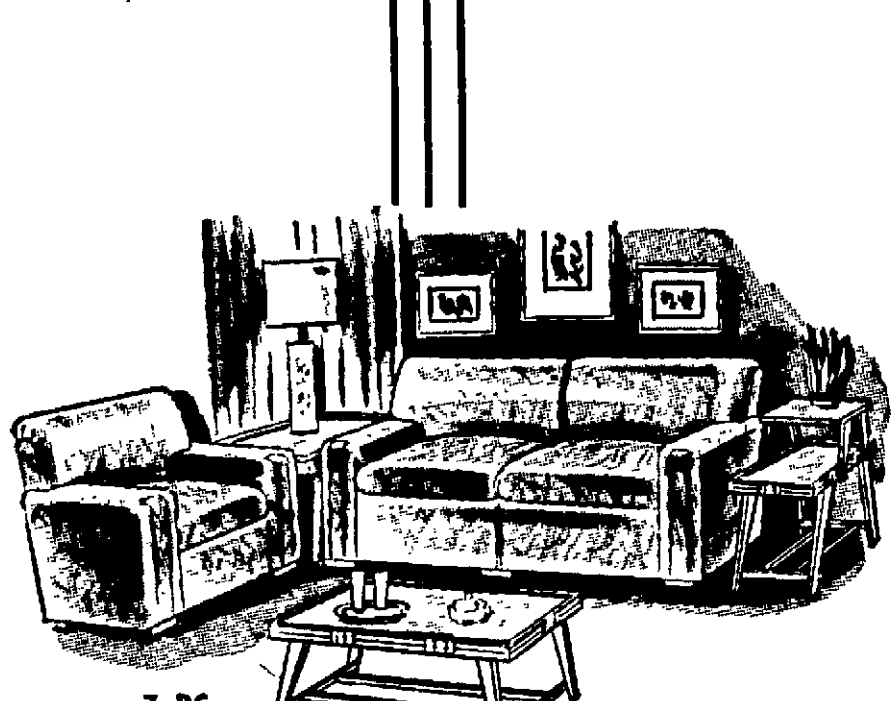

LONDON (INS) — The U.N. Disarmament Subcommittee which has been meeting in London since May 13 held its final session Tuesday and apparently failed on its arms reduction goal.

A communique said that the subcommittee report to the Disarmament Commission will be released in London and New York at 4 p.m. (9 a.m. CST) Thursday.

Crash Kills 4

ATLANTA, Ga. (INS) — Four Wisconsin men died in the flaming crash of a single-engine passenger plane Tuesday when the aircraft struck a tree in an attempted takeoff from Atlanta. The victims were pilot Delbert L. Jensen, Harry Walker, E.A. Schroeder and Ray L. Melville, 54, all of Wisconsin Rapids.

$200,000 School Payroll Hike Okayed

Certificated Teachers Profit Most

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Salary increases totaling nearly $200,000 to personnel in the Lincoln school system have been approved by the Board of Education for the 1954-55 school year.

Certified teachers in the system will get the biggest share of the increase, $182,178. For this group, there will be an average increase of $250 per year.

The new schedule will raise starting salaries $100 a year and maximum salaries from $50 to $200 a year. In addition, the number of steps on the schedule will be reduced.

Non-degree personnel will reach their maximum in eight rather than 10 years, teachers with bachelor's degrees will hit their maximum in 14 rather than 16 years and teachers with master's degrees will hit their maximum in 15 rather than 17 years.

More Teachers

The total cost of this schedule does not include the addition of more teachers to the system as a result of growing enrollments.

The schedule approved by the Board is about one-third of the increase requested by the Lincoln Teachers Association. That group had asked for a $300 increase in minimum salaries for teachers with a bachelor's or master's degree and an increase of $500 in the maximum for bachelor's degree holders and $400 for master's degree holders.

The Board did nothing with the request of the Men Teachers' Association for a dependency differential schedule.

The new schedule also changes the differential for principals and assistant principals in secondary schools. Pay to principals for each 100 pupils or major portion thereof is changed from $50 to $75.

Assistant principals in secondary schools will receive $37.50 rather than $25 for each 100 pupils or major portion thereof. This end of the schedule will cost approximately $4,775.

For office employees and others, only three maximums were increased and all employees in this category given a pay increase of one and one-half increments, with certain exceptions. This change is expected to cost $8,666.67.

Adjustments in the maintenance salary schedule is estimated to cost $17,971.67.

Changes were also made in the salaries of five special contract employees. Those employees and their old and new salaries:

Willis Hecht, Board attorney, from $2,700 to $3,000.
Everett DeVries, assistant to the superintendent in charge of operation and maintenance, from $5,500 to $6,000.
Dr. R. L. Fredstrom, assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum development and improvement of instruction, from $8,350 to $8,750.
David Sell, assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs, from $8,550 to $8,950.
R. H. Park, assistant superintendent in charge of operation and maintenance, from $7,300 to $7,500.

NE High Ups Credit Needs For Graduation

A change in the requirements for the number of hours needed for graduation at Northeast High School has been approved by the Board of Education.

The change will take place due to a change in the number of hours taken each semester by students at Northeast. The semester requirement at Northeast was 25 hours and will now be 27.

The new graduation requirements will be:
Class of 1955, 132 hours.
Class of 1956, 136 hours.
Class of 1957 and all future classes, 140 hours.

The Board also approved a program for the separation within the next three years of the joint junior and senior high band at Northeast. The three year period is required to allow all junior high students who have purchased band instruments to enter senior high.

Tentative OK Given New Grade School

The Board of Education has given tentative approval to the preparation of working plans and specifications for construction of a new elementary school at 65th and Gladstone.

Before authorizing the plans entirely, the Board will seek to exchange certain properties with the city to acquire a more uniform and larger building site. Plans are to take bids on the first two units of the school, including 12 classrooms, offices, auditorium and stage.

The third unit of six classrooms, costing some $60,000, could then be built as needed later on.

Amusement, Dance Licenses Get OK

The Lancaster County Commissioners have approved the renewal of 15 amusement and dance licenses in the county.

No opposition was voiced against any applications received and the following license renewals were approved:

Payment Change OK'd

A change in the method of payment to architects for school construction work has been approved by the Board of Education.

Under present contracts, architects are paid periodically 3.5 per cent of their total 5 per cent fee based on the original estimate of cost. Under the new contracts, the 3.5 per cent will be computed on the estimate up to the time bids are received and thereafter on the total cost as found in the low bid accepted.

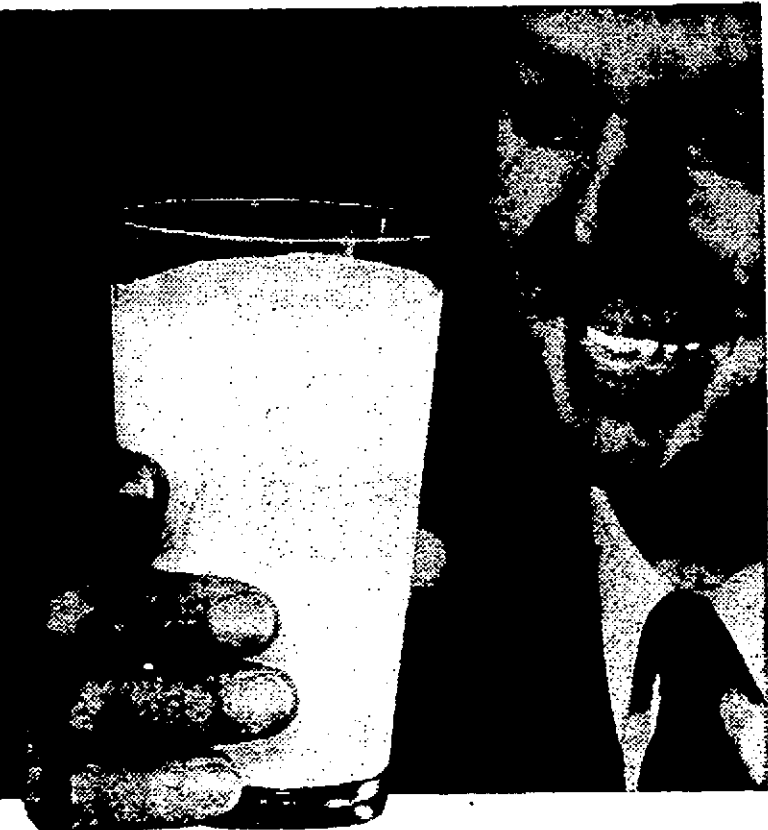

The other 1.5 per cent of the fee is paid after the final and complete cost of the structure has been determined.

The First Dividend

They say that the Senate subcommittee hearings in the brawl between Sen. McCarthy and the Army will not produce any tangible results.

Those who say it may be inclined to change their minds when they read of the outcome of Maine's Republican primary election which saw Sen. Margaret Chase Smith pile up a 5-to-1 margin over a relatively political unknown reputed to have been groomed by Sen. McCarthy to make the race against Mrs. Smith. The "unknown," Robert L. Jones, polled 19,673 votes to Mrs. Smith's 93,567, with the count nearly complete but unofficial.

Jones ran on a so-called Americanism platform which included "McCarthyism," defined by Jones himself as "ferreting out Communists." Apparently the people of Maine did not take him very seriously. It was a foregone conclusion, however, before the election that Mrs. Smith, a capable member of the Senate who aroused McCarthy's ire nearly two years ago by joining in a statement critical of McCarthy, would win easily. To what extent the Senate hearings influenced the people of Maine is uncertain. It is clear however, that they were not too overly impressed by McCarthy. It was also clear that Maine voters like their Mrs. Smith very much.

Midwest's Fair Share

We can agree 100 per cent with Ira Beynon's conclusion that the Midwest is entitled to a fair share of the defense spending. That is complicated to the extent that the heavily industrialized seaboard naturally can be expected to receive the lion's share of defense orders for planes, tanks, guns and other supplies needed for the defense program.

Specifically, in tossing a posy in the direction of the Eisenhower administration, Mr. Beynon takes heart when he notes that three sites under consideration for the proposed Air Force academy are in the Midwest—Lake Geneva in Wisconsin, Alton in Illinois, and Colorado Springs in neighboring Colorado. Unfortunately two of the prospective bridegrooms have walked out on the bride. If news dispatches are correct, neither Lake Geneva nor Alton are greatly interested in having the air academy plunked down in their midst. A powerful group in Lake Geneva, at least, feels that their chief interest is in the fabulous tourist trade and they do not believe that an air academy fits in with their pocketbook concern.

That leaves Colorado Springs. To the layman, that site, with an altitude of almost 6,000 feet, with the high Rockies in the background, is not the most favorable location for instruction in initial primary flying, it would seem. Some years ago when discussing the location of the Lincoln Air Base, an officer told us that it was not the most logical site for locating a flying field. He said the Army had learned that the hard way.

Now out at McCook in southwestern Nebraska, there is a great deal of interest in the possible location of the Air Force academy there, utilizing the site of the old McCook Air Base. McCook's boosters insist that the field could be reactivated, converted excellently into an Air Force academy, and at a saving of something in the neighborhood of 20 million dollars.

Mr. Beynon and possibly others will be interested in one paragraph which an enterprising McCook citizen wrote to the editor of The Star:

"Nebraska is one place where the best interests of the United States would be served from almost every point of view. It is the kind of an installation Nebraska could handle."

We do not know whether any member of the Nebraska delegation has given serious consideration to McCook's hopes. If not, perhaps it would be well for this state's delegation to investigate the possibilities thoroughly.

Circulating Navy

The world merry-go-round is running so fast these days that most of the nations are getting addle-headed. Now and then one jumps off for a few moments to recollect its wits.

It was in one of such time out periods that London's Punch added up the score on a piece of American lease-lend. It concluded:

"Russia has at last begun to hand over to the Americans at Istanbul some of the naval vessels borrowed during the war for defense against Germany. And the Americans, it is reported, have decided to lend them straightway to Turkey for defense against Russia. It will save cartage, for one thing. Other nations interested in subscribing to this circulating navy are advised to put their names down early before the Germans, with their well-known logical turn of mind, apply to use the vessels for defense against Turkey."

Gone With The Wind

Kansas whose territorial birthday coincides with Nebraska's is busy with its own centennial celebration this year.

In recreating a bit of the past it staged a cross-state run of the Pony Express to meet with a galloping cavalcade of eastbound riders from the west.

The act was a faithful reproduction of 1860 but there is something about this modern age. Its speed infuses everything. The Kansas run of 1954 beat the time for 1860. In fact, Gov. Arnold racing in his car at 70 miles an hour toward Topeka where he planned to be present at an exchange of riders wasn't fast enough to make it, even though the courting rider met with Indians and fell off his horse during a simulated attack.

Possibly the great burst of pony express speed resulted from rubber horseshoes that some modern blacksmith nailed to the feet of the horses.

Got 'Im Now

Princeton University has just conferred honorary degrees on Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of the Methodist church and Adlai Stevenson, recent Democratic candidate for President. This is probably just what Sen. Joe McCarthy is looking for. He got pretty badly worsted the first time he tried to make a subversive out of the bishop whose associations were not quite bad enough to tincture him with guilt. But now he really has been seen in bad company—a Democrat of top rank with a known leaning toward his party, and a school that perversely exercises freedom both of thought and action.

Nixon's Unity Move A Bid For Leadership?

WASHINGTON — Vice-President Dick Nixon, who has busied himself backstage on behalf of Sen. McCarthy in the past, is busy again. He is trying to patch up all breaches in Republican ranks and get pro-McCarthy and anti-McCarthy Republicans back onto one harmonious team.

To that end, he has been holding highly secret conferences which at present make it look as if Dick himself might emerge as the chief leader of the GOP.

Those attending the conferences have been Senators Dirksen of Illinois and Mundt of South Dakota, both good friends of McCarthy's; also Len Hall, the GOP national chairman; Postmaster General Clegg, formerly the only cabinet member still in McCarthy's corner; and at times Sen. Ferguson of Michigan. McCarthy himself has attended some of these meetings.

The general discussion is to the effect that like himself doesn't understand politics, is weary of the whole McCarthy fight, so the less he is bothered the better. Therefore it has been suggested that Nixon should be the sole liaison with the White House, and that he will bother like just as little as possible.

Furthermore, since Nixon, a Californian, is something of a rival of Sen. Knowland of California, the Nixon conferees would like to make Sen. Dirksen the Republican leader of the Senate at the next session. This would be a sop to the McCarthyites, also would help remove a potent Californian who could challenge Nixon for the presidency in 1956.

So far McCarthy has promised to go along with the boys and be good. He won't jump over the traces, he says. Of course, he has said this before.

Incidentally the Nixon group has not yet sucked in Attorney General Brownell or his assistant, William Rogers, the latter having been the last Republican to try to patch up an agreement with McCarthy, at Miami last Christmas.

FRANCE IS NOT OUT

Those who have seen Mendes-France operate in Washington advise that we not discount the new premier of France. Judging from the heavy vote he got supporting his new cabinet, others in France feel the same.

Though Mendes-France was viewed with a certain amount of skepticism by U. S. Ambassador Douglas Dillon in his reports from Paris, the fact is that the new premier has had experience in Washington as first executive director of the world bank. There, Americans

MARQUIS CHILDS

Fear U. S. Shifting Its Political Base

WASHINGTON — The controversy between the Army and Senator McCarthy has left many Americans with the sense that something strange and alien is happening. It is a spectacle that seemed to shatter traditional and accepted patterns of conduct.

Europeans are particularly disturbed, as this reporter learned from four months in Germany, France and Italy. They ask if America is going Fascist. They want to know what McCarthy means. Why do people seem so afraid of him? How did he get so much power? One of Europe's elder statesmen, long a friend of America and wise in the ways of world politics, put it this way:

"Not until the phenomenon of McCarthy in your country did I understand how Hitler could come to power in Germany. That the fear of a McCarthy, fear of yourselves, could happen to you with your long background of freedom, this is what we find so hard to believe."

There is at hand a recently published study of the power relationships that helped Hitler make himself the dictator over all of Germany. In the "Nemesis of Power" J. W. Wheeler-Bennett, historian of Oxford university, analyzes Hitler's divide-and-conquer technique, particularly as it applied to the German general staff. This thoroughly documented history reads like a thriller as step by step, breaking down the safeguards of law and order, tradition and custom, Hitler came to absolute power.

Reading Wheeler-Bennett's detailed analysis, which takes in political as well as military relationships, one can see certain parallels with the present. They are tentative, they cannot be pushed too far, in the opinion of one observer the important parallels are the following:

1. The struggle for the loyalty of the armed services. Hitler worked unceasingly to win the allegiance of the German Army away from the state and to the cause of Nazism. Throughout the McCarthy-Army hearings the senator insisted that despite their oath of loyalty men in the armed services should give him secret information.

2. The stab-in-the-back myth invented by the German general staff to cover their final defeat in 1918. Hitler exploited this by every avenue of propaganda to glorify German military might and to implant in the mass mind the conviction that World War I was lost because of a "Marxist-Jewish-Communist" conspiracy. The "20 years of treason" has in the same way been advanced by McCarthy and many other Republicans of his persuasion to prove that everything which has gone wrong or of which they disapprove was due to a vast conspiracy.

3. The breakdown of legal and constitutional procedures. With the conviction that the end justifies the means, McCarthyism in who came in contact with him, including the first U. S. head of the bank, Eugene Meyer, found him most friendly to the United States and one of the highest type officials of the bank. He was anything but a left winger.

It was Mendes-France's contention in the early years immediately after the war that if France had come into Indo-China promptly and vigorously, the whole matter could have been cleaned up. He so advised Americans friends at that time.

Since then, and as the Indo-Chinese war has dragged on, he has refused to go into various French cabinets which have had no program. He now believes the only course is to wind up the war, after salvaging as much as possible.

Americans who know the new premier, and who conferred with him when he was last here in September, suggest that France may be in for new rejuvenation under his leadership. After all, France has come through with some surprising strength at times when she was considered finished, including the battle of the Marne when the Germany army was almost at the doors of Paris.

MCCARTHY'S TAX PROBLEMS

Sen. McCarthy's statement that he will investigate a Democratic senator for wrongdoing has brought a sardonic chuckle from one of McCarthy's Republican colleagues, Sen. Williams of Delaware.

During all of this session of Congress, Williams has wanted the right to probe certain income tax irregularities, including those of senators. But he has been stopped by the Republican high command.

Williams was given this right by the Democrats when they controlled Congress, and as result, the public witnessed the strange spectacle of a Republican Sen. Williams probing the tax irregularities of Democrats and given complete Democratic carte blanche to do so. Williams did an outstanding job.

But when his own Republicans took over Congress, Sen. Millikin of Colorado, GOP chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, refused to give Williams the same power. As a result Williams has been largely silent at this session.

But while Williams has been stymied, McCarthy has had access to all sorts of privileged tax returns supposed to be under the care of his friend, Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews.

fighting Communism has used many of the techniques of Communism. In Germany this was carried to the ultimate extreme in armed warfare between the Nazis and the Communists.

From the first, as Wheeler-Bennett points out, the Nazis under Hitler's leadership showed a "venomous disregard for the decencies of public life" such as had never been seen before in German politics. Nazism constantly posed a choice to the Army—either a revival of the service and the glory of a restored Germany or the triumph of "Democratic-Marxism."

From time to time American generals have got into politics. Gen. Grant was "drafted" after the Civil War and his second term ended in a tragedy of scandal and misgovernment. When the "draft" of Gen. Eisenhower was in process, some generals openly sought to prevent his nomination. The two schools of military politicians were divided roughly—personalities to one side—on an Asia-First or a Europe-First basis.

In the optimistic view this is merely the aftermath of the vast authority reposed in men in uniform during a global war. It is a passing phase and when it has passed the constitutional balance between civil and military authority will be back to normal. In the pessimistic view the McCarthy appeal over the heads of the civilian government for the loyalty of the armed services is a fateful precedent opening the way to the evils that brought the Weimar Republic down.

The divisive forces of Nazism corrupted not alone the Army but all organized life in Germany. As late as December, 1932, the leaders of finance and industry were urging President Von Hindenburg to make Hitler chancellor on the theory that responsibility would sober him up and eliminate "the blenches and errors" which afflicted a "mass movement." There has seldom been a greater miscalculation.

In 1952 many of candidate Eisenhower's supporters argued that by giving the Republican party responsibility the wild men in the McCarthy wing would be tamed. As the McCarthy-Army hearings have shown, it did not turn out that way. Or, at any rate, thus far the ameliorating influence of responsibility has had no visible effect on Sen. McCarthy himself. He said over and over again during those hearings that he intended to go on just as he had been going on, regardless of what anyone might say or do.

U.S. Level-Off Didn't Hurt West

Editor's Note: The Free World nations have lived in dread of an American business recession. Yet the recession is now a reality with only limited effects abroad and predictions have gone haywire. The National City Bank of New York interprets the phenomenon as follows:

For more than a year the countries of the Free World have lived in dread of a business recession in the United States.

Because of the importance of this country in world markets, and memories of what happened in 1929, 1937, and 1949, the peoples of other countries have taken it almost for granted that even a mild slump here would have calamitous effects upon their economies.

This fear of an American setback has been one of the factors delaying the lowering of trade barriers and restoration of currency convertibility. Other countries have been reluctant to take chances in the face of their apprehensions of a new "dollar crisis" stemming from an American slump.

Today the American business recession so widely feared abroad has become a reality. The rise in the United States national product has not only leveled off, but slipped a little, and the industrial production index is down about 10 per cent from the peak. American imports during the first quarter of this year were off about 10 per cent from the first quarter of last year—about the same decrease as was shown during the first quarter of 1949 compared with the first quarter of '48.

Yet the dire predictions of the effects on the rest of the world have not borne out. With some exceptions among raw material producing countries, industrial recovery abroad has held up or moved ahead.

While industrial production in Canada has sagged some, as it has here, the European countries show no halt. In short, seldom have predictions of calamity gone more haywire. The question is, why have the prophets turned out to be so wrong?

First, expectations of the impact of a business decline on American imports were probably exaggerated. In 1954 the production index is already showing signs of stabilizing, and the incentive to postpone normal importing in anticipation of currency devaluations is lacking.

Second, European monetary conditions are much better than in 1949. Inflation has been checked, prices are more competitive in world markets, money is sounder, and currencies are fortified by larger reserves.

Third, production in Western Europe rests on a broader base. While activities in the capital goods and metals industries have tended to level off as armament output has reached a peak and many postwar reconstruction projects have been completed, the consumer goods industries have staged a revival. This has helped to expand employment and carry over-all production indexes to new highs.

Fourth, other countries have become less dependent upon United States imports and exports. They are trading more with one another. For example, in the six months from last October, through March British sales to the United States dipped 5 per cent below the like period a year ago, but sales to the rest of the world more than offset this dip, leaving Britain with a rising surplus of trade earnings.

Fifth, the so-called "terms of trade" have been in favor of European countries. By this is meant that prices of manufactured goods which bulk large in European exports have been higher relatively than prices of foodstuffs and raw materials which bulk large in imports. This tends to widen the spread between prices and costs to the benefit of European exporters.

Finally, a sixth and highly important factor softening the impact of the American recession upon the Free World has been the continued heavy outpouring of American funds for travel and other private services, economic aid, and support of our military efforts and those of our allies abroad.

Much has been said about the cutting back of economic aid—and the total has indeed been substantially reduced from the peak—but the amount still bulks large and is accompanied by increased spending in the military categories. Despite the declining trend of American commercial imports in the latter part of '53, aggregate dollar creating transactions last year reached a grand total of around $19,600,000, only a shade less than in '52.

In sum, the notion that a mere ripple on the surface of the United States economy is enough to produce tidal waves elsewhere has been dispelled. The Free World has stood the test well.

DORIS FLEESON

Washington Loses Important Figures

WASHINGTON—Official Washington mourns for two of its loveliest and best—Sen. Lester Hunt (D) of Wyoming and Joseph R. Farrington (R), the delegate from Hawaii. As a delegate, Mr. Farrington had non-voting house privileges; it was considered certain that he would be elected senator when Hawaii became a state.

A special kind of grimace marks private discussion of their passing, for their friends know that to these two amiable men, in separate ways, the current trends here had brought deep unhappiness.

Joe Farrington died of a heart attack while still struggling to pierce the cynical inertia which has thwarted his devoted efforts to win statehood for his people. With his wife, Betty, like himself a prominent Republican leader, he had worked patiently on the Democrats who gave lip service to his ideal and wallowed in his wonderful hospitality.

When their own party at last gained control, the Farringtons thought they were home. There are, of course, always "reasons" why the often-made pledges of statehood by both parties and recent presidents are said not to be attainable. The politicians select reasons according to their party. But somehow, in the end, nobody goes through on the issue.

It was a cruel disappointment to Joe Farrington that in two sessions of a Republican Congress which have not been exactly crowded with achievement, nobody was willing to fight the statehood issue through to a conclusion.

Senator Hunt's story is at once more personal and more ominous, as his melancholy suicide indicates. Mr. Farrington's cause will one day prevail. The atmosphere which poisoned life for Sen. Hunt seems to be long-lived.

Senator Hunt had a family misfortune of the kind which might happen to any parent. But it is out of fashion now in Washington to say with John Bunyan, "There is but for the grace of God, go I."

For this is the "Indian Charlie" Congress, as described by Assistant Secretary of Defense Struve Hensel in a sworn affidavit.

Hensel was charged by Sen. McCarthy with "master-minding" the Army's case against McCarthy, a charge dismissed by the Mundt subcommittee without public examination. Hensel now swears that he asked McCarthy on May 3 last "why he ever made the charges against me when he knew he did not have evidence to support the charges." The senator replied, says Hensel, that "he followed a maxim" taught him by "Indian Charlie," with whom he had once worked on a farm.

This maxim, Hensel quoted McCarthy, was that "if one was ever approached by another person in a not completely friendly fashion, one should start kicking at the other person as fast as possible below the belt until the other person was rendered helpless."

Senator Hunt feared that his misfortune might be used against him and his party. How much it preyed on his mind his friends realized only after he withdrew from his re-election race, alleging ill health. He certainly thought he was ill. Perhaps he was by that time.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Recently I received a copy of your splendid centennial edition, and have read it with much pleasure and profit. The Short Term

Fairbury, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I want to thank you very much for the fine compliment in your editorial of June 21. I think some people had the impression I was doing this purely for publicity purposes. My letter, in raising the question of the legality of the short term was intended as a serious question, as I sincerely felt that in the event this particular office was illegal or the individual who was elected would not be considered an office holder, it would be a waste of effort not only on my part as a candidate but on the part of the people who will consider the matter at the election.

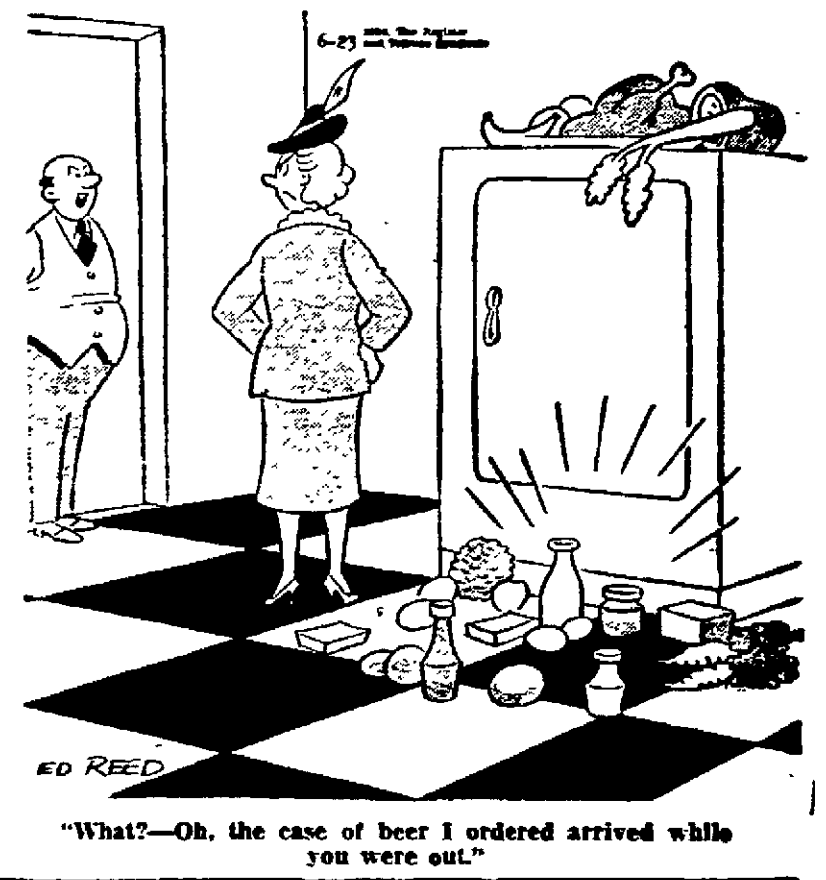

I was glad to know that it is legal and that in the event I should be successful in my efforts along this line and should Congress be in session, that I would have the opportunity to represent the people of the state of Nebraska.

Insofar as this short term is concerned, there is really only one issue and that is that in the event Congress should be in session during this term, it would be because of some world crisis; and whoever is elected would be called upon to make a decision which could affect many millions of people, many millions of dollars, and have a great deal of bearing on the future of these United States. I have thought about this a great deal because of the fact that I am the only candidate of the six who have filed who is a World War II veteran and therefore have a first-hand knowledge of what it is like to be in the service and in war. Also I am the only candidate of the six who have filed who has a son who within the next two or three years will be eligible for draft. Certainly any decision that I might be called upon to make is going to be thought out seriously before that decision is finally made.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

We doubt that anyone in rural Nebraska who raises wheat, noting the announcement by Secretary Benson of a 12.7 per cent slash in wheat acreage for 1955, recognizing the full pocketbook implications of that step, could say that "here is good news."

Mr. Benson can and does argue forcefully, perhaps convincingly when it comes to the people of the crowded cities, about the mounting surpluses which are the result, he says, of the folly of the present farm program. He is only partly right about these surpluses. The farm program, despite America's bigness and infinite variety, is only partly responsible for these huge surpluses. We have been a most fortunate people at harvest time. Nature has been our kind helper. For a stretch of 14 years, more so in some seasons than others, nature has been on our side with abundant rains, excellent growing conditions, and favorable contributions in the harvest season. Surely from 1942 on, abundant production in the American wheat belt has been aided by a kind providence as much as any other factor entering in, including improved farming techniques, constantly improved seed, improved equipment. We have been lucky and should be filled with a sense of deep thankfulness. But instead we say to ourselves that all this is wrong, all that has happened in the last 20 years is wrong, and what we now need is to reverse our course to move in the opposite direction. That may make sense to many. But to us this 20-year period with all of its imperfections has contributed more to the enrichment of American rural life than any other two decades of American history.

Mr. Benson's decision to enforce a slash of 12.7 per cent in wheat acreage apparently would take more than 500,000 acres of good Nebraska wheat land out of production in 1955. This state did not have a record acreage in 1954. On many occasions it has planted more land to wheat. Now, if there's any citizen of Omaha, Lincoln or any other Nebraska community who has the notion this new rigid slash decided upon by Secretary Benson will not affect Nebraska's economy, he needs only to wait for 1955's harvest.

Were the headlines to announce that 500,000 acres of Nebraska wheat had been winter-killed, people would understand. Were the headlines to herald that a hail storm on a majestic scale just in advance of the harvest had swept through the wheat-growing areas of Nebraska to level and destroy every vestige of the crop on 500,000 acres people would understand. Mr. Benson talks constantly about substituting other crops not in surplus for the acreage devoted to crops in surplus. He may know Nebraska agriculture, although we doubt it. He may have a precise cross-section of the chief wheat-producing regions in this state, but if he does he has a lot to learn yet about one of the major crops in Nebraska. What would he suggest farmers who devote a substantial part of their acreage to wheat shall substitute as an income-producing crop from the acres withdrawn from wheat production? There are times when it appears that the man who should be most devoted to the agricultural interests of America is the most caustic critic of what the American farmer has done in these years of tension.

We were lucky to have an ever-normal granary, a surplus of food, on the occasion of the outbreak of World War II. We have been feeding the world and food has been our most effective weapon. It is not likely but not impossible that in these immediate years ahead, America's greatest good fortune could prove to be the surplus food supplies now the target for so much criticism.

$144 Million For Missouri Urged

WASHINGTON, Mo.—A House public works subcommittee Tuesday recommended an additional $454,455,000 in authorized flood control projects, including $144,000,000 increase for the Missouri River Basin.

The recommendations, which include 13 new projects and increase authorization for five existing jobs, go now to the full committee for probable inclusion in a forthcoming omnibus authorization bill for flood control and rivers and harbors.

The authorization if approved by Congress would not make the money available but would clear the way for it to be requested.

Largest item approved by the subcommittee was a 180 million dollar increase in authorization for the Columbia River Basin. Army Engineers said recently the bulk of this would go to continue construction on the Dalles Lock and Dam with a portion being available for a possible start on a new power dam.

The 13 new projects approved Tuesday include:
Little Sioux, Iowa, $15,466,000.
Increased authorization include: Missouri River Basin, $144,000,000.

POSTCARD

In Frankfurt I checked in with the Army to present accrediting papers. It proved to be a very shrewd move. It not only gave me access to Army stories, it permitted me to go to the PX and buy bubble gum and Nancy Drew books.

To a 10-year-old lady, weary of foie gras truffle, I am a miracle man.

"Well," I said buffing by nails modestly on my lapel, "I simply went to the General. 'General,' I said, 'how about a little bubble gum?'"

For once this child is stopped in her tracks.

If there is a shortage of bubble gum it is only because there is no German demand. The cigarette bought you anything from a Leica camera to a nightclub. Four years ago we were still tipping with cigarettes.

Today the German shop windows are loaded with consumer goods. Pots and pans and clothing and chocolate and coffee and great hams roasted inside bread loaves.

The streets are filled with Volkswagens and the expensive Mercedes-Benz. And there is plenty of gasoline. About 60 cents a gallon but plenty.

There is plenty of beer and pretzels and Moselle wines. And plenty of people to drink them. The cafes are filled with prosperous looking Germans. On every street you hear the grinding of steamshovels and riveting hammers. Frankfurt is still largely rubble and blasted buildings. But the new skyline is full of modern skyscrapers.

It is a far different Germany than I saw four years ago. The jagged edges of the old stone buildings stood against the sky with jerry-built shops below. On every street corner, East German-refugees sold second-hand clothing and single razor blades and peddlers trinkets. Only American soldiers had enough money to go to cafes.

You see very little Army on the streets these days. Soldiers on leave wear civilian clothing usually. You are no more conscious of Army than you would be in downtown Chicago.

No occupation troops are welcome in any country. But the U. S. Army is extremely sure-footed in Germany today. I have not seen a man out of line. Army truck drivers drive carefully on the autobahn, patrolled by the white cars of the Military Police.

Every man in uniform looks as though he was about to stand inspection.

Moderate prices and excellent hotels and no shortages are putting Germany into good position in the tourist business. Americans account for one quarter of all tourist business. About $32,000,000 American tourist dollars were spent in Germany last year.

Hotel and restaurant prices compare about equally with Portugal. Top spot dinners for two with wines and brandies, about $10. Hotels, about $5 in the most elaborate rooms with a view and balcony.

Ten per cent is added to all bills for tips. (France takes 24 per cent on the tab and waiters and chambermaids hustle you for 10 to 15 per cent more.)

Bills are added correctly (as they never seem to be in Spain). There is no double-shuffle on the charge (as you so often find in Italy; i.e., two rooms with connecting bath are sometimes charged separately as "rooms with bath.")

You can drink the tap water anywhere (not advisable except in Switzerland, Germany and Great Britain).

Service is equal to Switzerland.

You find no warmth however in Germany. You find correctness but no friendly feeling. It is not so much unfriendly as it is aloofness.

The smile and the waving hand on the highway belong to France and the hills of Portugal and the Italian countryside and the sunny plains of Andalusia.

It belongs, I suppose to countries without occupation troops. Even with bubble gum.

State Hospital Treatment For DeYonghe Ordered

...County Board Finds Him 'Mentally Ill'

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer
Joseph E. DeYonghe, 21, charged with the first-degree murder of Penitentiary Guard John Claussen on April 16, has been found "to be mentally ill and a fit subject for care, custody and treatment in the State Hospital at Lincoln."

This was the unanimous decision of the Lancaster County Board of Health as announced by Chairman C. L. Clark following a morning-long hearing Tuesday. Clark said a warrant for commitment to the hospital will be issued.

Sitting on the Mental Health Board besides Clark were Dr. N. Richard Miller and W. Claude Burcham, clerk of the District Court.

Excited and stuttering, DeYonghe first asked that the hearing be delayed "until I see my lawyer," but later, appearing more calm, he instructed the board members:

"If you want justice done, you will come to the conclusion that I should stand trial. I didn't kill John Claussen and I can prove it if I can get into court."

First to testify was Co. Atty. Frederick Wagener who "signed the affidavit for a mental hearing" in view of DeYonghe's history and "my personal observation of him."

"DeYonghe has a psychopathic personality—perhaps not psychotic, however," Wagener said. "He has a persecution complex and hates discipline."

Broken Home
Tracing DeYonghe's history Wagener said the youth came from a broken home, had trouble in schools, ran away from home at 13 to enlist in the army.

His service record shows he was given a minority discharge from the Army, but re-enlisted at age 14. At 16 he enlisted in the Air Force but was discharged "for withholding information," and enlisted in the Navy at 18.

DeYonghe had been under psychiatric observation while in the service because of "blackouts and amnesia," Wagener said. "DeYonghe claimed to have asked for hospitalization because he was afraid he would kill somebody."

Dr. Rex M. Strader, one of the examining psychiatrists said that DeYonghe told of "having blackouts, as he called them" during most of his life.

Didn't Blackout
Dr. Strader said that DeYonghe said "he didn't blackout on April 16 (date of Claussen murder)." Asked why he was sure he didn't, DeYonghe said his "head was perfectly clear that day. It takes one day for the dull headache to wear off after a blackout."

According to an interview with DeYonghe, Dr. Strader said DeYonghe when 11 years old attempted arson. He was probably given psychiatric examination in the St. Louis hospital for this, he added.

In San Francisco as a youth, DeYonghe was a member of juvenile gangs—one known as the "hourglass" gang, Dr. Strader said. "He told us a weird history of juvenile warfare."

Liked Chain
DeYonghe never used a knife in the gang wars, but considered a motorcycle drive chain "the most effective weapon."

DeYonghe apparently "has wierd nightmares—with the story picking itself upon on successive nights," Dr. Strader related. "He says he can't cry," Dr. Strader added.

DeYonghe has "little control of his personality," Dr. Strader said. "He's vicious and a very dangerous boy."

DeYonghe's psychiatric personality is superimposed by schizophrenia (split personality) and is of the paranoid type (persecution complex), according to the psychiatrists.

High IQ
Dr. Robert Stein testified that DeYonghe claimed an "inferiority complex all of his life." DeYonghe's definition of this complex is that "I feel everyone is against me. I don't trust anyone. I always feel guilty if any crime is committed while I'm around."

Dr. Richard W. Gray, assistant superintendent of the Lincoln State Hospital, said that DeYonghe has an IQ of 126. "He has intense paranoid tendencies, but there's no marked disturbance of intelligence."

Although DeYonghe insisted at the beginning of the hearing he would "answer no questions," he testified for himself.

DeYonghe turned to his confinement at the Penitentiary and a list of grievances.

He claimed he was "called a potential killer" when first brought to the pen. "Warden (Herbert) Hann was definitely prejudiced against me from the start."

Put Into Hole
Because of a June, 1952, escape attempt "I was stripped naked, handcuffed and put into the hole. It's filthy down there."

"The first man they got (in the January, 1954, prison riot and laundry fire) was me. I didn't have anything to do with it," he said.

Then turning to the Claussen murder, DeYonghe said "I couldn't have killed Claussen."

I'm not a violent person. I wouldn't have slugged him and cut his throat."

DeYonghe then said he "made a confession because Hann threatened to put me in the hole."

On questioning from the board, DeYonghe said "I'm not normal, but I do know right from wrong. Normal people don't try to take their own life."

In his insistence upon the right to stand trial, DeYonghe said if he were convicted of the Claussen murder, "I would expect to pay for it. This (hearing) is just a test of my faith in God. God has been testing me with this trouble. But I didn't listen to God."

Beating Victim's Wife Charged With Manslaughter; Used A Cane

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Mrs. Clara Clarkson, 61, has been charged with manslaughter in the fatal beating of her partially paralyzed 70-year-old husband, Matthew Thomas Clarkson.

Co. Atty. Frederick Wagener, who filed the manslaughter complaint late Tuesday said Mrs. Clarkson would be arraigned Wednesday morning in Lancaster County Court.

Wagener said Mrs. Clarkson, in both oral and written statements, has admitted striking her husband with his own cane, hitting him while he was standing up and while lying on the floor.

Struck With Cane
Mrs. Clarkson, according to Wagener, said she and her husband had an argument which resulted in a fight, and then she began striking him with the cane. Wagener gave no details as to cause of the argument.

Wagener said the beating occurred "not later than 10:30 Saturday morning" at the Clarkson home at 1021 Saunders, but that a doctor was not called until that evening.

According to Mrs. Clarkson's statement to police, she propped the unconscious man into a living room chair — later edging the chair to the bedroom with intention of putting Clarkson on the bed. She finally decided to leave him in the chair, she said.

Washed Blood

In her statement, she then told of bathing her husband's face and scrubbing blood off the floor.

She said she tried to call a doctor about 3 p.m., but was unsuccessful. About 7 p.m., when a friend came by, she was driven to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank E. Holdren of 1601 West O.

It was Mrs. Holdren who called a doctor Saturday night about 9 p.m. Clarkson was hospitalized soon after, Wagener said.

Clarkson died about 3:45 p.m. Monday and was in a semi-conscious state during his stay in the hospital, Wagener said.

Clarkson suffered blows about the head, hands, wrist, and left thigh.

Autopsy Done

While an autopsy has been completed, Wagener said he had not received "a final written report," but had conferred with the doctor.

MATTHEW T. CLARKSON

The complaint alleges that "Mrs. Clarkson without malice did strike and wound her husband, causing injuries resulting in his death, and with commission of an unlawful act unintentionally killing Clarkson."

Wagener said Mrs. Clarkson's arraignment would be held after Mrs. Clarkson and her son and daughter, Merle E. Bailey of 3040 No. 61st, and Mrs. Holdren had a chance to confer with him in his office.

Clarkson, a retired electrician, had been married for 13 years and had lived at 1021 Saunders for about 3 1/2 years. He lived in Lincoln more than 20 years.

Financing Of Nebraska Toll Road Talked

The question of financing a toll road survey in Nebraska occupied the Nebraska Turnpike Authority at its monthly meeting Tuesday.

The possibility was suggested that the 1955 Legislature might have to be asked for the money. A full fledged survey probably would cost more than $100,000.

The outcome of studies in Illinois and Iowa affect the problem.

Cheever Hardwick of New York, representing Smith, Barney and Associated, investment bankers, told the authority that if positive reports come from both Illinois and Iowa, his firm would do a preliminary survey. This would be expected to cost around $25,000.

The Iowa Highway Commission is studying the turnpike situation at the behest of the Iowa Legislature but its report is not expected before next month.

If Iowa should have a negative report on an east-west turnpike the Nebraska authority would have to explore other ways of getting a survey made.

"If we get a negative report from Iowa, it looks as if we'd have to go to the Legislature and get some money," said W. W. Putney.

"If we can't get the money from the bankers, in other words,

News Commentator Hollenbeck Ends Life

... Ex-Lincolnite Had Been In Ill Health

NEW YORK (AP)—Don Hollenbeck, 49, CBS, TV news commentator, committed suicide by gas Tuesday in his Manhattan apartment. He had been in ill health.

Hollenbeck a University of Nebraska graduate, worked for newspapers, the Office of War Information (OWI), NBC and ABC before joining CBS in 1946.

Don Hollenbeck shorts and bat bathrobe, he was found lying on the kitchen floor. All burners on the gas stove were open. Dr. Emanuel A. Neuman, assistant medical examiner, pronounced death suicidal.

John Gude, the newscaster's agent, said Hollenbeck had been suffering from bleeding ulcers. He said Hollenbeck was too ill to present his usual 10 p.m. (EST) nationwide newscast Monday and barely had been able to finish his newscast the night before.

A friend of Hollenbeck's, Milton Stern, an assistant dean of New York University, spent some time with him Monday night and prevailed on him to forego that night's newscast because of his health. Robert Trout took Hollenbeck's place.

A tenant reported he had seen Hollenbeck come to the door of his apartment about 6 a.m. Tuesday to get his morning newspapers.

Hollenbeck's body was discovered at about 11 a.m. after another tenant in the Middletown hotel on E. 48th St. smelled gas and notified the hotel management. Hotel employees traced the gas to Hollenbeck's apartment and entered with a pass-key.

Hollenbeck lived alone. His wife, the former Angelique Dean, maintained a separate residence in the Central Park area with the couple's daughter, Zoe, 9.

Gude said Hollenbeck and his wife saw each other daily but had separate apartments because he wanted to be near the CBS studios and she wanted to be near the park and a place of business she conducts in that area. They were married in 1941.

Native Of Lincoln

Hollenbeck was born in Lincoln, Neb., March 30, 1905. On his graduation from the university, he joined the staff of The Nebraska State Journal, then moved to the Omaha, Neb., Bee News.

In 1937 he joined the Associated Press newsphoto staff in New York. He was transferred by the AP in 1939 to San Francisco as newsphoto editor.

He resigned a year later and became picture editor of the now defunct New York newspaper P.M. Later he became its national affairs editor.

He went to Europe for the OWI during World War II and broadcast from London, North Africa and Italy. One of his broadcasts was a battle action report on the American landing at Salerno.

Hollenbeck was sent back to the United States in 1944 to recuperate from malaria and jaundice. He returned to Europe the next year and broadcast from Germany, France and England.

New Wheat Restrictions 'Blow To Nebraska Farmer'—Beynon

Ira D. Beynon, Republican candidate for Congress from the First District, said Wednesday, "The new restrictions on wheat acreages come as a blow to the Nebraska farmers."

He warned that the slash in wheat production will mean "an estimated total loss in revenue of approximately $11 million" and will "adversely affect both farmers and merchants."

Although Beynon agrees that in view of mounting surpluses (875 million bushels of wheat at the present time) "some drastic action had to be taken," he adds that the situation "emphasizes again the necessity of taking vigorous action to put our agriculture on a sound basis."

World Shortage

The Lincoln attorney said, "I believe there would be a more sympathetic understanding of the farmers' problem if it were realized that over the world at large there is a shortage of food." "Our tariffs," he added, "which protect the manufacturer and the laboring man, at the same time have largely taken away from the American farmer his world markets... In lieu of free dollars we must expand our foreign trade and barter our wheat for goods that hungry people have to sell."

3-Point Program

Beynon emphasized that he is not advocating an abandonment of tariffs, "but we cannot protect one class and ignore the other."

"It is not likely a panacea can be found for this difficult situation," he said. However, Beynon lists the following three point program as a step in solving the surplus problem:

1. Foreign trade must be expanded which means that "if we are to sell our products abroad we must agree to buy at the same time."

2. Marginal land should be taken out of production and placed in public domain, making those areas which do not furnish adequate livelihood for farmers into recreational areas to be drawn upon in case of drought or war.

3. Consumption, both abroad and at home, of "wholesome foods produced on American farms" should be encouraged.

Steelworkers Reject Contract Offer By Industry

'Five Cent' Wage Plan Is Killed

PITTSBURGH (P)—The CIO United Steelworkers powerful 170-member wage policy committee Tuesday flatly turned down a contract offer submitted by U. S. Steel Corp., bellwether of the industry.

David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers Union, said at a news conference immediately after the policy makers meeting that U.S. Steel's proposals are "completely unsatisfactory."

U.S. Steel had no comment. The union chief declined to say what the company offer included, but it was reliably reported that he told his wage policy committee the corporation offer amounted to a package of less than five cents an hour.

The union chief is also reported to have told the committee that some persons of high position with U.S. Steel would welcome a strike.

McDonald reportedly made no mention of these persons by name but did tell the committee that U.S. Steel Chairman Benjamin F. Fairless was not included in the statement.

The union president said at the news conference that the wage policy committee "voted complete confidence in and approved the report of the international (union) officers on the state of negotiations."

McDonald declined to discuss the "state of negotiations" at the press conference. He did say the statement could be interpreted as meaning the union and company have differences.

The wage policy committee adjourned after a session which lasted about an hour and a half. McDonald said the committee has a tentative date to meet here again next week.

New Wing To Boost Housing Needs Here To 1,000 Units

By BOB BERKSHIRE
Star Staff Writer

With the addition of the 98th Medium Bomb Wing to the complement of Lincoln Air Force Base, the housing needs of the Air Force in Lincoln will increase to over 1,000 units by the end of 1954, according to Col. Ervin Wursten, Base Commander.

He made this statement at a press conference Tuesday to emphasize the need for increased housing to take care of Air Force personnel.

"The time for talk has passed, and action must be taken immediately or many men who have returned from combat tours in Korea will be unable to live with their families," Wursten added.

The Base is planning to receive between 1,400 and 1,500 additional personnel because of the assignment of the Wing. That is the wing's maximum strength. The wing, which was one of three Strategic Air Command wings that saw service in the Korean conflict will return to the United States in mid-July.

Elements of the Wing began arriving at the Base Tuesday morning. Maj. John E. Murray was the first man from an advance detachment commanded by Lt. Col. Alexander Currie to report aboard. The detachment will prepare the way for the main group.

Concerning the problem of housing Air Force families, Col. Wursten expressed concern over the slowness of the present housing projects. "At the present time 500 base personnel have housing off the base, and 100 married men are living on the base away from their families," Wursten reported.

To help afford temporary housing for the Air Force families, the base plans to convert some of the bachelor officer barracks into guest houses that will take care of a few families.

Free to Strike

McDonald said the union executive officers will press the industry to intensify negotiations with day and night sessions from now until the contract expires June 30. The union would be free to strike after that date. No negotiations are scheduled at this time, he said.

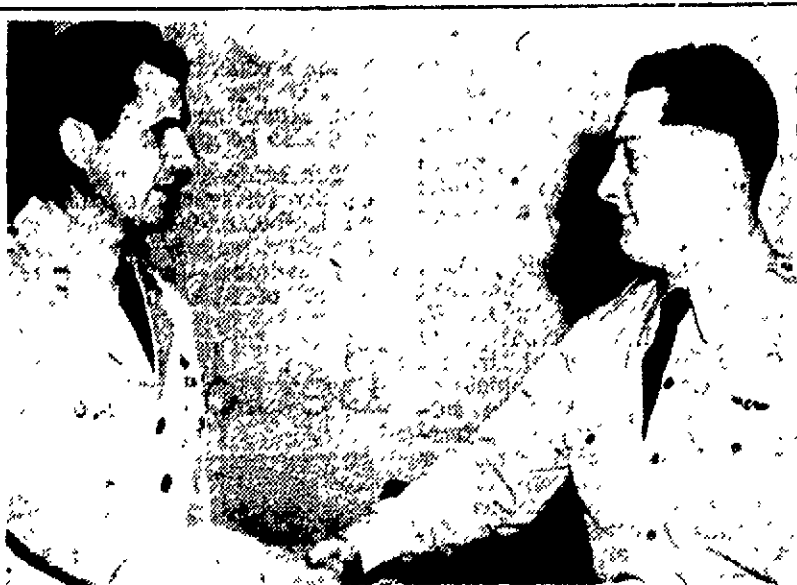

The union president said: "I hope to have something, which I can recommend to them (the committee) as a satisfactory settlement when they meet again."

The union leader asked reporters to underline the word hope and stressed that he meant he was expressing a desire and not a condition that he expects to exist.

Asked about union preparations for a strike, McDonald said such arrangements are automatic and that he assumes union leaders on a local level have already contacted the company plant managers to make arrangements for an orderly shutdown of the mills in event a settlement is not reached by the end of the month.

Around The Town

SO IT'S mid-week again, and a typical, beautiful June morning with plenty of news that has to do with guests, plus a few homecomers—plus numerous courtesies, and a little of this and that added for good measure.

Among the visitors who are in town but briefly are Miss Ruth Dane and her two nieces, the Misses Diana and Deborah Dane, who stopped off en route from their home in Washington D.C. to San Francisco. The travelers are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Wilson.

THEN we learned that Mrs. Charles J. Conlin Jr., and her two children, Marc and Cassie, have been spending the past several days at the guests of Mrs. Conlin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Simpson.

Since her arrival Mrs. Conlin, the former Mary Louise Simpson, Pi Beta Phi at Nebraska, has been kept busy with numerous informal courtesies. Yesterday Mrs. Edward Faytinger and her mother, Mrs. Roy Johnson, were coffee hostesses at the home of Mrs. Faytinger, complimenting the visitor, and we discover that the two courtesies are included in the Wednesday calendar. The first is a luncheon for a small group of guests for which Mrs. James Evinger and Mrs. F. A. Pierson, Jr., will be hostesses—and the second is an informal afternoon affair at the home of Mrs. George Hol-yoke.

August Bride-Elect

MISS LIANNE FARRALL

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Farrall of Grand Island of the engagement of their daughter, Lianne, to Robert C. Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ryan of Lincoln.

A late August wedding is planned.

Miss Farrall is a former student at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Mr. Ryan will be a senior

District Conference

-An all-day planning session for the officers, chairmen and county federation officers of the First District of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs will be held Friday, June 25, at the home of Mrs. Vera M. Lewis in Shubert, president of the district.

The morning session, beginning at 10 o'clock, will be devoted to making plans for the annual district convention, to be held October 15, at Pawnee City.

Mrs. Lewis and members of the Shubert Woman's Literary Club will be hostesses to the group at luncheon, to be held at the Shubert Christian Church, after which the afternoon session will feature a series of study groups.

Presiding at a workshop for county officers will be Mrs. Wayne Frans of Auburn, first vice president of the district, and Mrs. Forrest Phillips, Douglas, district second vice president, will conduct a meeting for the district chairman.

The Hope for Hopeless Hair

A RESTOR TREATMENT is just what the name implies, it restores hair to a normal condition, for the many ills of hair, excessive dryness, split ends or damage from improper treatment. It is the quick restoration with the help of keratin, a protein found in normal hair which is often lost when the hair is abused or neglected for a month or two.

RESTOR is a solution of elements for hair designed to penetrate the hair shaft and remain there to revive, strengthen and add weight to limp, dull, scanty, bleached, drab and dyed hair. It will definitely change the appearance with just a single treatment to a more natural look and will make it feel like new grown hair, resulting in a defined and lustrous appearance, more satisfactory permanent waves and will prevent fading in tinted hair.

The whole process takes no longer than a few more minutes and helps to make a bygone of unruly hair.

Maison Lorenzo offers consultation without charge with Mr. Roberts, style director, regarding your individual hair problems.

Among other parties in Mrs. Conlin's honor was the luncheon on Monday when Mrs. Fritz Harris entertained at the University Club—and a mother-daughter luncheon last Thursday for which Mrs. Jean Kinder was hostess when she entertained at the Lincoln Country Club.

APROPOS of guests—Hear that Col. and Mrs. Charles Heitman and their family arrived in Lincoln Tuesday to spend a few days as the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Blackman. Mrs. Heitman, by the way, is no stranger to Lincoln—As Miss Barbara Spoerry, Delta Delta Delta at Nebraska, she resided here when her father, Col. Spoerry, was stationed on the Nebraska campus as a member of the military science faculty.

Col. and Mrs. Heitman and their children have resided at numerous army posts that dot the globe, and just now are en route from Col. Heitman's most recent assignment at the Pentagon, Washington, D.C., to Camp Carson, Colo., where he is to be stationed.

THERE are some notables from the world of art in town this week, we hear—One of them is the popular Hutton Webster who has come from Arizona for a few days stay in Lincoln—and the other is Lawrence Stevens, a prominent Texas artist who, so we've been told, is to do some murals for a new building in town.

FROM OMAHA has come news of the arrival of a daughter, Susan Marie, to Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Schaumburg on Monday, June 21. Mrs. Schaumburg is the former Patti Hyland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hyland of Lincoln, and a Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Schaumburg of Lincoln are the paternal grandparents.

Lincoln B, PW To Make Tour

The members of the Lincoln Business and Professional Women's Club have planned a tour of the State Hospital for Thursday evening. The club will meet at 5:30 o'clock at the club rooms, 1124 N. for the trip out to the hospital where the group will have dinner preceding the tour.

MRS. JOHN FREDERICK WELLS

Bride Of John Wells

With only the members of the family attending the service, the marriage of Senorita Dona Urueta, daughter of the late Senor and Senora Modesto J. Urueta of Barranquilla, Colombia, S.A., to John Frederick Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick N. Wells, was solemnized on Tuesday afternoon, June 22, at the Westminster Church.

The Rev. Calvin Ukena read the lines before a background of lighted candles, summer blossoms and greenery, and Miss Josephine Waddell, organist, played the wedding music.

Senorita Romana Urueta of Barranquilla was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. With her frock of misty pink organza she carried a bouquet of blue delphinium.

Richard J. Swan of Denver served Mr. Wells as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by John W. Newman Jr., of Aurora, chose a gown of white tulle for her wedding. The sculptured bodice of shirred tulle was designed with a portrait neckline, filled in with a deep yoke of flesh-toned tulle contoured with an applique motif of re-embroidered Alencon lace, and brief sleeves. The embroidered lace was repeated in a cascade pattern down the front of the bouffant, floor-length skirt fashioned of multi-layers of tulle. Her veil of French illusion was fingertip length, and was held to the head with a pearl-dotted cap of satin. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations and stephanotis.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was attended by only members of the family.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip Mr. Wells and his bride will reside at 1324 So. 52nd St.

The bride, who attended a girls' school of Bogota, Colombia, S.A., is a former student at Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa., and was graduated from Western College, Oxford, O.

Mr. Wells, a lieutenant in the Navy Reserve recently was released from a second tour of duty with the Navy. During World War II, he served in the South Pacific theater. He attended Miami University, Oxford, O., and was graduated from the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Along Courtesy Row

Parties, parties and more parties seem to be occupying the time of the many June brides-elect in Lincoln. In addition to parties, however, we do have some news of a bridal party or two and of a prenuptial dinner.

One of the June brides-elect, Miss Grace Edling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August W. Edling, whose marriage to Owen Robbins, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Robbins of Jackson, Mich., will be solemnized on Thursday afternoon, June 24 at Westminster Presbyterian Chapel, shared honors with her fiancé on Monday evening, June 21, when Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Waybright were host and hostess at their home for a dinner. Included among the guests was Miss Nellie Wiggins of Daytona Beach, Fla.

Miss Edling and Mr. Robbins were again honored on Tuesday evening, June 22, when the bride-elect's parents entertained at an open house in honor of the couple and also in celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Edling's golden wedding anniversary which will be Thursday, June 24.

Also in honor of Miss Edling and Mr. Robbins, will be a prenuptial dinner on Wednesday evening, June 23, at Cotner Terrace. In addition to the wedding party, Mr. and Mrs. George Robbins of Jackson, Mich., and Miss Wiggins will also be guests.

The bride-elect was the incentive for several parties last week too, one of which was a dessert supper on Wednesday evening, June 16 at the home of Mrs. George Buer.

Assisting hostesses were Miss Ethel Burns and Miss Lillian Burn. The twenty guests presented Miss Edling with a miscellaneous shower.

On Thursday evening, June 17, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Daffinbaugh were host and hostess at an informal family affair in honor of the bride-elect.

Toy Gifts For Tiny Patients

Members of the Lincoln Alumnae Club of Alpha Xi Delta made a trip to the Lincoln Orthopedic Hospital recently with a large basket of toys and stuffed animals, which the club members made during the last year for the small patients at the hospital.

Charlotte Biberes of Gurley, Marie Van Cleave, both hospital staff members; Mrs. Herbert Probasco, president of the alumnae club; Mrs. John H. Parker of Milwaukee, Wis., philanthropic chairman for the national sorority; and Mrs. Charles Norris, local philanthropic chairman, holding Paul Nelson of Bushnell.

Other altruistic projects of Alpha Xi Delta include the support of "Save the Children Federation," in rural areas of Kentucky and Tennessee, annual scholarships for five students from The Netherlands, and the annual presentation of 100 books to various tuberculosis institutions in the nation.

At a candlelight service solemnized Sunday afternoon, June 20, Miss Marilyn Cropper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Cropper of Lyons, became the bride of Richard W. Asprooth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin R. Asprooth of Rockford, Ill. Cathedral candles burning in pedestal candleholders, and arrangements of white daisies, roses and smilax, appointed the chancel of the Memorial Methodist Church at Lyons for the service, which was read by the Rev. Lloyd W. Mullis.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Elvena Kerns, who also presented a prelude of piano music and accompanied Miss Joan Reynolds of Omaha, the vocal soloist.

The matron of honor and the bride's only attendant was Mrs. Conrad H. Espeland of LaGrange, Ill., who was frocked in hyacinth blue dotted Swiss. Beneath the fitted basque, the waist-length skirt was shirred into fullness, and she carried a cascade of yellow Esther Reed daisies.

Paul G. Anderson of Rockford, Ill., served Mr. Asprooth as best man, and seating the guests were Donald Asprooth and Sigurd H. Linden, both of Rockford.

The bride's colonial gown was fashioned of white imported Swiss organdy over ice blue taffeta and net. Embroidered daisy applique edged the low, rounded neckline of the snug bodice, and also trimmed the organdy mitts which completed the brief, shirred sleeves. The applique motif was repeated at the hem of the extremely full skirt, which extended into a train, and her veil of illusion was held by a cap of the embroidered flowers. She carried a satin basket filled with white Esther Reed daisies, roses and variegated ivy.

A reception for 100 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the 4 o'clock ceremony. Upon their return from a trip to Colorado, the couple will reside in Milwaukee, Wis.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, Mrs. Asprooth has taught physical education in the Rockford, Ill., schools. She is a member of the National Education Association and the Rockford Education Association.

The Star Welcomes

Sgt. and Mrs. David Moore with their eleven-months-old son, David Jr., are new residents in Lincoln at 2520 N. Mrs. Moore is not only a new-comer to Lincoln, but to this country, for she arrived in the United States just four weeks ago from her native country, England.

The Moores met while Sgt. Moore was stationed in the Air Force, and Mrs. Moore, who grew up in Coventry was a clerk in the British Women's Air Corps. Lincoln is the first real taste of the American homelife for her, since the Moores spent a month visiting Sgt. Moore's family and friends in Montana. The sergeant expects to make the Air Force his career and he is with the fire department at the Lincoln Air Force base.

The Rev. and Mrs. A. M. DeLapp are settled with their four youngsters at 3835 J in Lincoln, where Rev. DeLapp will serve as pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. The children are Ted, 11, Tom, eight, Elizabeth three years old, and James, who is a wee four months old.

Both natives of Minnesota, the Rev. and Mrs. DeLapp met at MacAlister College in St. Paul. They moved to Lincoln from Manhattan, Kan.

The Air Force needs protection from the evils of fire just like the rest of us, and the man whose job it is to provide that protection is assistant chief Gareth H. Bowen. Mr. Bowen has moved his family from Denver to Lincoln where they hope to remain for a number of years at 4815 Hartley.

The rest of the family includes 11-year-old Bonnie; Donna, nine, and Gary, who is seven.

M. Sgt. and Mrs. Jack Vier and their children, Mary, 10, Jack, seven, and Julie, two years old, have just returned to this country from three years in England, and are stationed at the Air Force Base in Lincoln, where he is in the supply squadron.

The Viers are residing at 1901 Rancho Road, but are originally from San Anselmo, Calif.

Marriage Solemnized

Miss Mary Catherine Ormand, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ormand, became the bride of John Casey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Casey of Parshall, N. D., Friday morning, June 18, at a 9:30 o'clock ceremony solemnized by Msgr. C. J. Riordan. The wedding took place at St. Mary's Cathedral.

The maid of honor was Miss Catherine Casey, sister of the bridegroom, and bridesmaids were Miss Lola Hetherington and Miss Arlene Fitzpatrick, who wore wide-skirted frocks of net in summer pastel tones.

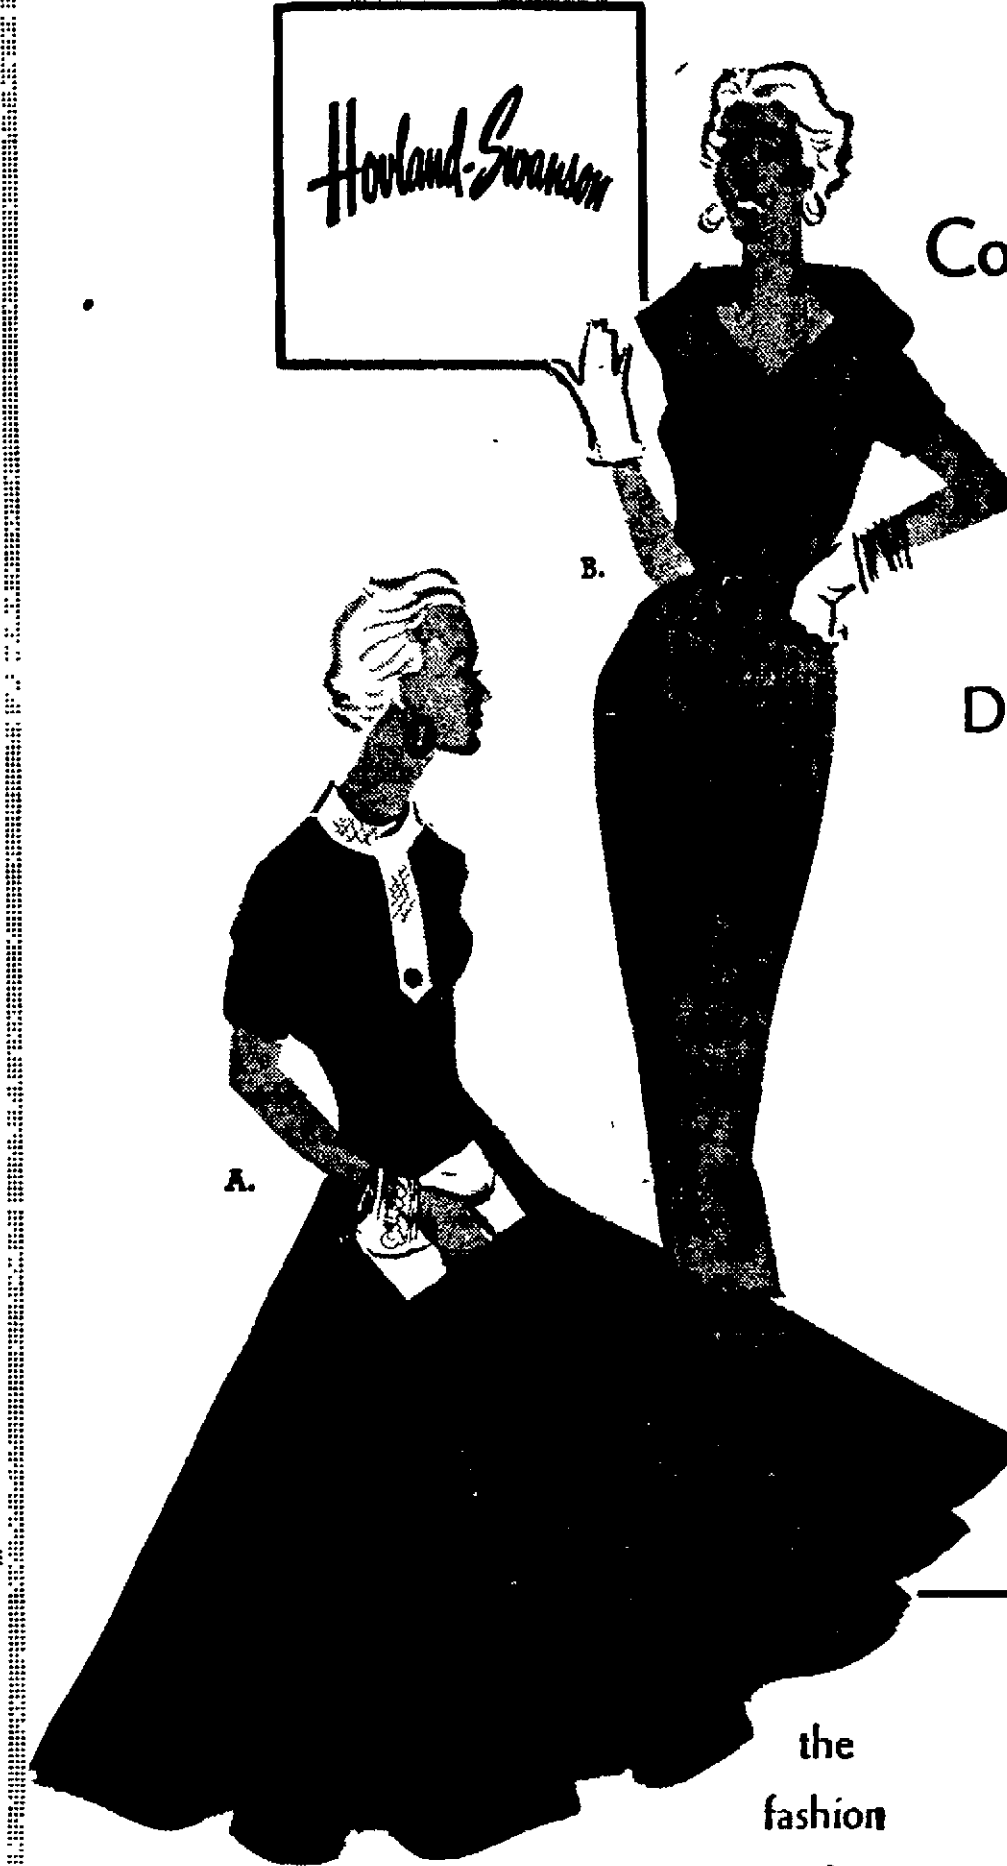

Serving his brother as best man was Robert Casey, and the ushers were George Coleman of Omaha, and James Ormand of Donphan, cousin of the bride.

The bride's gown of white lace and satin was fashioned in the colonial mode. A small lace collar and long sleeves accented the fitted basque, and the full satin skirt was designed with a back panel of tulle which extended into a slight train. A coronet of pearls and sequins held her veil of illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast for the members of the bridal party and family was held at the Hotel Cornhusker. Upon returning from a trip to Yellowstone Park, Wyo., and the Colorado mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Casey will reside at Parshall, N. D.

We Hear That--

Mrs. George H. Parks has returned home following a week's visit at Scottsbluff where she was the guest of her nephew, Charles L. Yungblut, and family and where she attended the wedding of Miss Nancy Ann Yungblut and David Raber on Thursday evening, June 17.

Mrs. Paul Hyland
She meets the defending champion, Mrs. Russell Mann, today in the State Women's tourney.

Stanky Shakes Up Card Hurling Staff

ST LOUIS (AP) — Eddie Stanky did something today about his wobbly St. Louis Cardinal pitching staff, but how much remained to be seen.

Righthander Stu Miller, who started as a sensation in 1952, was optioned to Columbus of the American Assn. along with newcomer Bill Greason, also a righthander.

At the same time righthanded pitchers Brooks Lawrence, a Negro, and Ralph Beard were brought up from Columbus.

Lawrence, 29, has won six and lost three this year but has an unimpressive earned run average of 5.26 for the season. Beard, 25, has a 5-6 record with an earned run average of 2.70.

The 26-year-old Miller came up to the Cardinals in August of 1952, winning six and losing three. Last year he had a mediocre season of 7-8 and this year he has made a poor showing with a 2-3 record.

Unterseher Wins Junior Net Title

Neil Unterseher, the 14-year-old boy who has ruled Lincoln tennis among the younger set the past two years, added a third junior boys title Tuesday against Art Weaver in the city finals at the 38th and South courts.

Unterseher, state boys and junior champion, defeated the Lincoln High ace who was a state high school finalist, 6-4, 7-5.

Weaver had made the finals earlier with a 6-4, 2-6, 6-2 win over Bill North.

In veterans doubles Sig North and Gilbert Unterseher eliminated Vern Hungate and Voris Peden, 6-4, 6-4 in a second round match.

Bill Hill beat Carl Wohlfarth, 6-2, 6-2, and the Rev. Thomas Kealy stopped Bill Barrett, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3 in the men's consolation bracket.

Winner and runner-up trophies will be presented at a Lincoln Tennis Club picnic tonight at 7 o'clock at the Antelope Park bandstand.

Andrews Set Face Nardico

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul Andrews, winner in 23 of 26 bouts, and slugging Danny Nardico, ranked sixth and seventh among the world's light heavyweights, meet in a nationally televised 10-rounder at the Chicago Stadium tonight 8 p.m. CST.

Andrews, 24-year-old ex-paratrooper from Buffalo, N. Y., is a rangy sharpshooter, who can punch as well as box. In his last start, against Harold Johnson at the Chicago Stadium March 17, Andrews floored the No. 1 light-heavy contender in the first round. But inexperience cost Andrews a 10-round decision.

Against Andrew's 13 knockouts, dangerous punching Nardico, an ex-Marine, has piled up 34 kayos while fashioning a record of 48 victories, 12 defeats and four draws.

U.S. Women Score Wins At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Classic-swinging Maureen Connolly and the other American girls in the Du Pont-Brough-Hart-Connolly tennis dynasty breezed through their opening matches at Wimbledon Tuesday in less time than it takes to get a manicure.

Only third-seeded Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, had any difficulty as the favored Americans steam-rolled one round, and in some cases two rounds, ahead on the historic courts. The warm, sunny day was devoted to women's singles and men's doubles on the widely scattered courts of this huge tennis plant.

Miss Fry, runner-up in 1951, had to play her best to defeat Mrs. V. Alvensleben-Rigollet of Switzerland in a first round match 6-4, 6-4. The smiling, buxom Swiss player trailed 4-1 in the first set and 5-1 in the second, but in each she rallied to cause trouble with her flat, power-packed forehand drives.

Top-seeded Miss Connolly of San Diego, twice Wimbledon singles champion, won from Joan Scott of South Africa 6-0, 6-3 in a second round match. Maureen gave the impression the loss of those three games was in the nature of a charity donation.

Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., seeded No. 2 and rated the only gal—with a glimmer of a chance of beating Little Mo, played one of England's best, Georgie Woodgate, and won 6-1, 6-1 in a second-round match. Six of the games were taken at love. Miss Hart won at Wimbledon in 1951.

Cholly On Diet

Weather 'Ideal;' Corn Progress Good

Hot and humid weather last week provided "almost ideal" conditions for corn in Nebraska and the crop made "good progress" in most areas, crop experts reported Tuesday.

But small grain crops didn't fare as well, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics—at least in some areas.

In Western Nebraska, local spots are short of moisture while nearby, hail and washing rains damaged crops.

In the central area, local heavy rains caused some crop damage but more moisture is needed in a few counties. Local rains with washing and flooding similarly have caused considerable soil erosion and crop damage in the east.

Some cornfields are quite weedy because soil has been too wet for tillage. And some fields that have had to be replanted because of flooding may be too late to mature before frost.

Heat last week was detrimental to winter wheat, causing some premature ripening, but high humidity limited the damage. Black stem rust has showed up in the east but the crop is believed far enough along to escape serious damage.

Hail has taken a "rather heavy" toll of wheat acreage in many western and some central counties. But by and large, the crop continues in good condition, the report said.

Oats continues excellent and a good crop is expected. Rye is promising.

Barley is ripening, some prematurely, and harvest of both wheat and barley will get under way next week.

The alfalfa harvest is generally completed except in Northwestern Nebraska. Pasture and range feed are generally ample for livestock except in the extreme southwest.

Precipitation throughout Nebraska for the past week included:

Area	Amount
Grand Island	2.90
Lincoln	2.30
Central	1.70
Western	1.50
Imperial	1.80

Average past week: 1.35
Total since April 1: 10.07
Normal since April 1: 9.30

Grassland Projects, Pastures Inspected

Improved Practices Stressed

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Farm Editor

BENNETT, Neb.—The effect of grassland improvement practices in the experimental plot and in practical farm use were reviewed by Lancaster County farmers Tuesday.

The tour of selected pastures in the county, the first of its kind to be conducted by the Lancaster County Extension Service, showed different seeding and management practices which were used to increase the value of pastures.

First stop in the tour was on the Art Hordung farm near Roca where the U. S. Department of Agriculture-University of Nebraska pasture experimental plots revealed some sharp contrasts. Weed population was heavy in plots which had not been sprayed to control weeds, and almost absent in some treated areas.

The tour, conducted by Lancaster County Agent Cyril Bush, assistant Agent Emory Nelson and Don Burzlaff, extension pasture specialist from the University of Nebraska, next viewed some bromegrass plots on the Roca farm which had been improved by application of nitrogen, but Nelson reported that the process of soil churning used there had not affected the yield from the grassland. The yield of bromegrass had been increased a ton for every 30 pounds of available nitrogen added to the ground.

The final stop was at the Leroy Ringland farm near Bennett. Here the good job native grasses can do in controlling soil when planted on eroded ground was demonstrated. The effect of seeding of native grass as well as tame grasses was one of the points studied.

State Seeks To Intervene In Tax Case

GERING, Neb. (P)—The state filed a petition in district court to intervene in the "declaratory judgment" action started last January by County Treasurer P. Cooper Ellis against the city of Scottsbluff and the Scottsbluff school district in a tax distribution controversy.

Attorney General Clarence S. Beck said "the matter is of great public interest in the state for the reason that the same question as to distribution of such funds paid in lieu of taxes arises in other counties."

32 Defendants
Treasurer Ellis' action was filed against 32 defendants asking the court declare his system of distributing "in lieu of tax" payments made by Consumers Public Power District as correct. The Scottsbluff school district, and city of Scottsbluff then filed against Ellis, asking for money judgments on grounds the treasurer's system is wrong.

Ellis contends the Consumers payment (about $28,000 a year) should be paid to subdivisions having Consumers property according to the amount each subdivision needs to raise by tax levies. The city and school district feel that the payments should be made on the basis of valuation of Consumers property in each subdivision.

Firemen Are Honored

DESHLER, Neb.—R. W. Rodenburg, P. A. Ude and Fred Ferguson were honored at special ceremonies in recognition of their 25 years of continual membership in the Firemen's Mutual Aid Association. The Deshler Volunteer Fire Department was organized in 1908.

Modern Pasture Uses Studied

Porterfield Given School Board Post

James C. Porterfield, assistant professor of education at the University of Omaha, was named executive secretary of the Nebraska School Boards Association at the executive board meeting Tuesday at the Cornhusker Hotel.

He succeeds Dr. Frank H. Gorman, dean of the Omaha University College of Education, who held the position for the past four years.

Mrs. Yvonne Harsch of Omaha succeeds Mrs. J. R. Mueller of Omaha as treasurer.

The board endorsed the Nebraska State Education Association's plan for telling Nebraska's education story. Dr. Archer Burnham, NSEA research director, spoke on the plan at the luncheon.

Members of District 3 of the school boards association will meet at the Norfolk High School at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The board also voted to hold the annual association meeting in Lincoln on the second Monday and Tuesday in January.

Porterfield has been in public school work since 1934. He served as superintendent of elementary schools in North Platte and was with the state department of public instruction for a year.

Services Thursday For Columbus Boy

COLUMBUS, Neb. (P)—Funeral services for Robert G. Miller, 15, who was accidentally shot and killed Monday afternoon, will be held in Columbus Thursday afternoon.

Miller and a friend, John Broderick, 16, were target shooting west of Columbus when the accident occurred.

He is survived by his parents and a sister.

Judge Palmer Forfeits Bond

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia. (P)—Municipal Judge Lester Palmer of Omaha, charged with drunkenness, Tuesday forfeited his bond in Council Bluffs Municipal Court.

Neither Palmer nor his attorney was present when the case came up before Municipal Judge Andrew Nielsen. Judge Palmer had pleaded innocent to the charge at his arraignment last Wednesday, but pleaded guilty to three other misdemeanor charges filed following his arrest in Manawa State Park the previous Monday night.

Fined $100
He was fined $100 and costs on a charge of possessing improperly labeled liquor and fines of $10 and costs each on charges of drinking liquor in a public park and permitting a dog to run loose in a public park.

The complaining witness, Manawa State Park Custodian Harold Borwick and Conservation officer Ward Garrett, were in court. When Palmer failed to appear, Judge Nielsen declared the $10 bond forfeited.

Mrs. Helen Hines, 43, of Omaha, arrested with Palmer on a charge of being drunk, forfeited a $10 bond last Tuesday.

As Judge Andrew J. Nielsen forfeited Judge Palmer's $10 bond, he said, "That's the end of it as far as we are concerned."

"We wouldn't extradite an ordinary drunk," Judge Nielsen said after court.

He explained the drunk charge is a misdemeanor and is not subject to extradition.

Innocent Plea Is Entered In Murder Case

LEXINGTON, Neb. (P)—Ciriacio Martinez, 22, pleaded innocent in Dawson County court to a first degree murder charge in the fatal shooting of a friend and fellow worker, Adan Sanchez, 22.

He waived a preliminary hearing and Judge Albert Mann bound him over to District Court without bond. Martinez remained in Dawson County jail.

Sanches was shot late Saturday on a farm near Overton, where he and Martinez were workers in the sugar beet fields. Dawson County Attorney Hugh Stuart said the two men became involved in an argument over the pay of an extra worker hired by Martinez.

The county attorney said Martinez told him he was knocked down by Sanches. Martinez said he then armed himself with a 22 caliber revolver and when Sanches rushed at him again, Martinez said he fired a single shot.

Sanches died later in a Lexington hospital.

Alliance Damage Set At $500,000

ALLIANCE, Neb. (P)—Damage to crops in the Alliance area last week has been estimated at $500,000 by Box Butte County Agent John Reynolds.

The hail hit an area of 36 square miles, he said, causing crop damages to range from 20 per cent to total loss. Hail was most devastating in the area north and west of Alliance and in the vicinity of Berea.

The half-million-dollar estimate did not include cost of repairing buildings or caring for land after crops were destroyed, Reynolds said.

GI Twins Born During Twister

A Revolution in Motor Oils

Reduces Wear 40%

WORLD'S FIRST! Automotive engineers and lubrication experts know that the toughest standard ever set up for automobile lubrication is the Mil-O-2104 Supplement 1 test. And the first all-weather motor oil to meet the severe requirements of this test is new Phillips 66 Trop-Artic.

Compared to ordinary motor oils, new TROP-ARTIC reduces wear 40% or more! It cuts oil consumption 15% to 45%. It keeps pistons cleaner. This new oil can even double the life of your car's motor! And it extends gasoline mileage by reducing friction.

TROP-ARTIC is a superior all-weather motor oil... S.A.E. 10W-30. It can be chilled to a temperature below zero, and still flow easily for quick starting. Yet at 180° it retains the film strength needed for protection at high temperatures. Get new TROP-ARTIC MOTOR OIL for year around engine protection that will save you money.

-and another Phillips 66 Exclusive

Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL is the new gasoline... the only gasoline... with the added super aviation fuel component Di-isopropyl.

Phillips was first to make Di-isopropyl and also HF Alkylate, two components so valuable to smooth motor performance that until recently they were restricted by government order for use exclusively in high performance aircraft fuels. But now authorities have removed restrictions and these powerful components can be blended in Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL for your car.

FLITE-FUEL brings you more power, higher anti-knock, longer mileage, plus the important advantages of controlled volatility, and the clean-burning qualities for which Phillips 66 Gasoline is famous. FLITE-FUEL is the perfect companion product to new Phillips 66 TROP-ARTIC All-Weather Motor Oil. They go together for better engine performance.

Wolbach Man Loses Life In Farm Mishap

Tractor, Hay Baler Involved

WOLBACH, Neb. (P)—Robert Kolar, about 30, of Wolbach, was killed Tuesday afternoon in a farm accident involving a tractor and hay baler.

The accident occurred on a farm owned by Kolar's uncle, George Coides, about six miles northeast of here.

Kolar was operating a tractor with a hay baler behind it. Witnesses said he stopped the tractor, got off to talk to some men in the field and the tractor started down an incline.

Witnesses said Kolar jumped on the tractor, but in his haste, pulled the wrong brake lever. The machine continued down an incline into a gulley, throwing him to the ground.

Kolar was struck in the head by the hay baler. He was killed instantly.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Elsie Kolar, and a brother, Francis, Omaha.

McCook Flier's Luck Continues

McCOOK, Neb. — McCook's "Number 1 World War Hero" found his luck is still in good working order.

Robert T. Gordon, winner of the Navy Cross for scoring a direct hit on a Japanese warship in 1943, had another close brush with death recently while on maneuvers over the Pacific as a lieutenant commander with the Naval Reserve.

Flying in formation near Catalina Island, the plane directly behind Gordon's dropped a wing and struck Gordon's aircraft, shearing off the tail. The first plane plunged into the ocean. The pilot's body was not recovered.

Gordon parachuted from a height of 4,000 feet into the ocean. Despite internal injuries, a fractured right elbow, and a badly injured left side, he managed to inflate his life preserver and life raft.

The remaining three planes in the squadron circled over him for more than an hour until a helicopter succeeded in rescuing him.

Gordon is visiting his family in McCook.

Temporary Span At Salem Okayed

FALLS CITY, Neb. (P)—Richardson County commissioners have ordered the construction at Salem of a temporary bridge across the Nemaha River.

The 200-foot Salem bridge was destroyed by flood water last week. Loss of the bridge had left an 11-mile stretch between Falls City and Dawson without a crossing over the Nemaha.

The temporary span with a floor four feet above the water, will carry automobile traffic.

The commissioners ordered the bridge following an open meeting by residents and farmers in the Salem area.

Tobacco Men Say More Study Needed On Cancer

NEW YORK (AP)—The tobacco industry said Tuesday more study is needed to determine the causes of cancer and heart disease.

It described as "preliminary" a report by the American Cancer Society that indicated heavy smoking tends to reduce the life span, at least for men aged 50 to 70.

The tobacco industry research committee said data in the report "would be more useful when all the work has been completed and fully analyzed and set forth as is established custom in scientific journals."

It declared the report "points up" the need for further extensive research to discover the causes of cancer and cardiovascular diseases.

Great Respect

The committee set up by the industry, to determine effects of tobacco on health, issued its statement through Dr. Clarence Cook Little, its scientific director, after first declining comment.

Little said he had the greatest respect for Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond and Dr. Daniel Horn, who drew up the cancer society report, and expressed belief "their completed data" will be of interest to science.

But Little called attention to a "simultaneous statement" by Dr. Charles S. Cameron of the cancer society "to the effect" that the "Hammond-Horn theory" is not "entirely proved."

Hammond and Horn reported that a survey of almost 200,000 men showed that cigarette smokers have a death rate, from all diseases, as much as 75 per cent higher than that of non-smokers.

Rev. Herrick, New Southminster EUB Pastor, Is From Family Of Ministers

The Rev. Marvin V. Herrick, appointed to the pastorate of Southminster Evangelical United Brethren Church, 16th and Otoe Streets, by the annual conference held at Murdock, comes from a family of ministers.

His father, also a minister in the Nebraska Conference, has been pastor of the church at Seward; two uncles are ministers and two of his aunts are missionaries in New Mexico. One uncle is pastor of the EUB church at Concordia, Kan., and another is pastor of First Evangelical

The study showed that deaths in the 50-70 age group were mostly from cancer and heart disease.

Don't Inhale

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—"If you must smoke cigarettes don't inhale," the science chief of the American Cancer Society advised the public Tuesday.

Dr. Charles Cameron, medical and scientific director of the ACS, offered hope to smokers by saying there is a "good possibility" that the cancer-carrying "agent" in cigarettes may be discovered and removed as a result of continuing studies.

Guatemala's Plea For Security Council Meet Given Cold Shoulder

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (Wednesday) (AP) — Guatemala urgently appealed to the U.N. today for a second extraordinary session of the Security Council to discuss what it called continuing "acts of aggression."

Lodge

A three-page letter addressed to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld by Guatemalan Ambassador Eduardo Castillo Arriola was delivered at U.N. headquarters just after midnight following long consultations by the Guatemalans with U.N. delegates here and with the Foreign Minister in Guatemala.

Guatemala made its request first in a telegram late yesterday but the formal letter was held up several hours because of a statement issued by Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. delegate and council president for June.

Lodge warned the leftist Guatemalan regime not to be a "cat's paw" for a Soviet conspiracy and insisted the Guatemalan case must be dealt with by the Organization of American States (OAS).

Guatemalans said they wanted the Guatemalans to meet today. They attempted to persuade some council delegates to call for a meeting but they were not successful up to an early hour today.

Hammarskjöld is expected to communicate the formal request during the morning to Lodge for his action.

Lodge in his statement had indicated that he did not plan to call for a meeting at this time. In his telegram to Lodge, sent almost simultaneously with the release of Lodge's statement, Castillo Arriola said in part:

"Within the last 48 hours the aggressive actions of invasion have continued by air, sea, and land, and army of Guatemala is repelling the invaders."

"In view of that, I ask you to call a meeting of the Security Council if possible on the 23rd of June in order that that high body may take the necessary steps."

Castillo Arriola had disclosed earlier Tuesday through a spokesman that he was requesting a new meeting because the "acts of aggression" are continuing from bases in Honduras and Nicaragua.

The Guatemalan ambassador has insisted in frequent comments here that his country is not dealing with the OAS and that the situation is not before the inter-American organization.

Reduced Rail Cement Rates Retained By Commission; Cost Cut Seen

The Nebraska Railway Commission Tuesday handed down a decision expected to have the effect of cutting the cost to Nebraska cement users of cement manufactured in the state.

Specifically, the order retains reduced railroad rates on cement which took effect last Jan. 9, despite a petition of the railroads to the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) that they be increased.

The saving on freight costs, on the basis of railroad figures, has been estimated at $371,112 a year, or nearly one dollar a ton.

A spokesman said the decision, growing out of long proceedings, will establish a precedent by restoring to the states power to fix rates within their own borders—a power said to have been largely nullified by the ICC's past policy of requiring states to conform to federal rate decisions.

Nebraska has two cement plants—the Ash Grove Lime and Portland Cement Co. Mill at Louisville, and the Ideal Cement Co. Mill at Superior.

The Nebraska commission's report points out that for many years Nebraska cement rates have been fixed at higher levels than rates in adjoining states to the east and south.

The original rates prescribed for Nebraska started with a 1918 order of the ICC.

Since then, numerous general increases have been authorized by the ICC.

However, growing competition of trucks caused some railroads to voluntarily reduce their rates within and between large portions of Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Colorado, Wyoming and other Western states. No such voluntary reductions were made in Nebraska.

Finally, the Nebraska commission refused to go along with the general increases authorized by the ICC. In 1948, 1949, 1951 and 1952, increases aggregating about 50 per cent were ordered by the ICC, but the Nebraska commission permitted only an 8 per cent increase.

In November of 1951, railroads asked the ICC to force the Nebraska commission to bring rates within Nebraska up by the same percentage as the ICC had increased rates between the states. The ICC upheld the railroads in a report issued in January, 1953, and the Nebraska rates as a result were increased May 1, 1953, to a level said to have been about the highest in the United States.

Cement companies protested and after a hearing, the Nebraska commission reduced the rates effective Jan. 9, 1954. Again the railroads went to the ICC. Still another hearing was held at the Nebraska level and Tuesday's decision grows out of that hearing.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (P)—Mrs. Jack Nelson of Broken Bow was reported in fair condition Tuesday after being hospitalized in Grand Island for polio.

Her three children, ranging in age from two weeks to almost three years, have received gamma globulin shots. About 15 persons who had direct contact with Mrs. Nelson have received the blood derivative, which may soften the effects of polio, but is not a curative.

Still to be learned is whether railroads affected will make further appeal from the Nebraska commission's order, or, if such appeals are made, whether the ICC will accept the state commission's decision.
